Nun Dies In Fiery Protest

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam, plagued by Communist guerrillas and religious unrest, plunged deeper into civil turmoil Thursday as word spread that a Buddhist nun had burned herself to death—the fourth such ritual suicide in two months.

Reliable informants said Nun Dieu Nien set fire to herself in the market place of Ninh Hoa, a coastal village 200 miles northeast of Saigon, the first woman fire-suicide.

THREE OTHERS DIE

Three monks had previously taken their lives in this way in the Buddhist effort to focus world attention on their demands for civil and religious rights they claim President Ngo Dinh Diem's government denies them.

HUE, Viet Nam (AP) — A 71-year-old monk burned himself to death in his ceremonial robes inside Hue's biggest pagoda at 4 a.m. today.

President Diem and his family are Roman Catholics.

FOUR VITAL CENTRES

The fiery suicides have taken place in four important centres of South Viet Nam: Saigon, the ancient capital of Hue, Ninh Hoa and Phanthiet, 100 miles northeast of Saigon.

Communist Viet Cong guerrillas control the hinterland around these cities and they are reported exploiting anti-government sentiments stirred up by the suicides and stringent government action against Buddhist demonstrations.

TAKE NUN'S BODY

Informants at Ninh Hoa said government authorities had taken the nun's body in a move aimed at preventing a mass demonstration at her funeral.

They followed the same tactics with the body of a novice monk who immolated himself early Tuesday near the central Vietnamese religious centre of Hue. It had an opposite effect, however, and troops had to go into action to break up a student demonstration demanding return of the body of 17-year-old Thich Thanh Tuc.

SCORES ARRESTED

Scores of students were arrested during the fracas at Hue and some were reported wounded by the troops who carried fixed bayonets and swung their steel helmets.

TOOK BUS TRIP

Informants said Nun Dieu Nien lived in a pagoda at the port of Nha Trang, that she took a bus to Ninh Hoa and immediately after arrival set fire to herself. There was no explanation for the bus trip.

Freed After Hour's Work

Ice Belt Traps Workman

By MIKE GADSBY

A man got his foot caught in a conveyor belt Thursday and it took two policemen, four firemen, two workmen, a doctor, a hydraulic jack, a chain saw and a cutting torch more than an hour to free him.

Henry Longaz, 35, of 25[illegible] Government, was working in a small ice room at Oakland Industries, 130[illegible] Wharf, when he accidentally stepped on a conveyor belt which runs across the floor of the room conveying crushed ice.

His right foot jammed solidly in the conveyor and police were called to help free it and take him to hospital.

Constables Gordon Bennett and Fred Acreman were unable to free the foot and the fire department was called in.

A steel bracket was cut through with a blow torch by fireman Robert McKean, then a hydraulic jack was used to try to push apart the wooden sides of the conveyor to free the foot.

The sides wouldn't budge, so Mr. McKean sawed them through with a chain saw. Meanwhile a doctor had been called into administer morphine to Mr. Longaz.

Two workmen had been kept busy all the while shovelling crushed ice away from the trapped man while he was being freed.

Firemen John Easton, Carl Coates and Dave Pye were also on hand to help extricate the foot and help get Mr. Longaz out of the confined room so he could be taken to hospital.

He suffered a bad laceration, but there were no broken bones, and he was reported in satisfactory condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital last night.

Tractor Frees Impaled Boy, 11

ABERDEEN, S.D. (CP)—An 11-year-old boy used a tractor Thursday to remove a large hydraulic prong from his chest.

Eugene Hart was driving a tractor pulling another tractor which had a haystacker tine attached in front. When he stopped his tractor suddenly, the second machine lurched forward and the tine speared him, entering through his back and going out through his chest, missing his heart and lungs.

His mother, Mrs. Everett Hart, said the boy put the tractor in gear and drove forward, withdrawing the steel tine.

"He didn't even cry," she said.

Eugene is recovering in hospital.

Foreigner Keeps Suspecting Soviet Soft Sell

By ALAN HARVEY
Last of a Series

MOSCOW (CP)—A traveller plunges behind the Iron Curtain wondering why the Soviets are like that and comes back rhapsodizing about the Russian soul.

That's what has happened in a month-long visit starting with Moscow's broad boulevards and ending with the leafy parks of Kiev, final memory of many Ukrainians emigrating to Canada.

Between times, strengthening the tourist's impression of basic human worth, came Samarkand, Bukhara and tawny Tashkent. Here in scorching central Asia emerges a new and bewildering segment of the Soviet empire; here European techniques roll back Uzbek mud huts and more than 30 nationalities, strayed off the set of some Charlie Chan movie, mingle in a racial cocktail whose consequences are incalculable.

And finally lighthearted Leningrad with its block-long buildings and Western affinities, not really seeming a Soviet city at all, viewing the cold war with aplomb.

In Torment

Soon the Western mind tosses in torment.

On one side are whispers about strict security, radio beams that can pick up conversations in the most private setting, mysterious wrong numbers, artificial noise machines designed to thwart electronic eavesdropping.

And again there are the people so alive, under that sluggish Slav exterior, that they will explode in a pandemonium of emotion as an elderly ballerina makes her final appearance, so tender-hearted they will burst into tears at the sight of an African baby cradled in a white woman's arms.

Are Western suspicions

19 Kidnapped

CASTRO RAIDS BRITISH ISLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Castro armed forces kidnapped 19 persons—presumably Cuban refugees—from a British island Tuesday while U.S. warplanes watched, the state department reported Thursday.

Press Officer Richard I. Phillips said that, at British request, 10 survivors who escaped the raid by two Cuban warships and a helicopter have been brought to Key West by the U.S. Coast Guard vessel Ariadne.

He said U.S. fighter aircraft and coast guard patrol planes saw the raid but could not intervene under international law because the action was on British territory. The scene was Anguilla Key, described as a small, uninhabited island in the Bahama chain about 40 or 50 miles from Cuba.

PROTEST TO CUBA

In London, the British foreign office said a frigate has been dispatched to investigate the incident and a protest to Cuba would be in order if it proves correct that Cuban forces went on the British island.

Phillips said this is what happened:

Two Cuban naval vessels and a Cuban helicopter removed 19 persons from Anguilla key and from two small boats nearby between 4 and 6 p.m. Aug. 13. The ships and the helicopter then headed off to the west, toward Cuba.

DID NOT RADIO

The U.S. planes watched the action but did not radio the British at the time. Subsequently, the U.S. information on the incident was given to British authorities in Nassau, the capital of the Bahamas, and in Washington.

The Ariadne picked up 10 Cubans Wednesday at the island. They said they were members of the families of persons captured by the Cuban forces. The 10, who included a woman and a child, said they escaped seizure by hiding.

'Profumo' Vote Ends

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England (Reuters) — Party officials predicted a poll of more than 60 per cent when voting stations closed Thursday night in the "Profumo" byelection here.

Sunny weather brought out a steady flow of voters all day in this riverside town—swelled with tourists visiting Shakespeare's birthplace.

Five Charged In Rail Robbery

LONDON (CP)—Three men and two women were charged Thursday night in connection with Britain's $7,000,000 Great Train Robbery.

Two men were charged with other persons at present unknown with being concerned in the theft of £2,600,000 while another man and two women were charged with receiving.

They were arrested just a week after the Glasgow to London post office train was stopped by fake signal and mailbags full of banknotes were stolen.

Police were also reported to have seized more than £100,000 ($300,000) of the stolen money.

TO APPEAR TODAY

All five accused were scheduled to appear in court in Linslade near Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, today.

Those arrested and the charges against them were:

Roger John Cowdery, of East Molesey, and William Boal, of London, accused of being concerned with others in the theft of £2,600,000 the property of the Postmaster General;

Mrs. Rene Boal, wife of William Boal, charged with receiving £[illegible] in five-pound notes and five one-pound notes, knowing them to have been stolen;

Mary Florence Pilgrim, 49, of East Molesey, and Alfred Pilgrim, 52, of the same address, charged with receiving £850 in five-pound notes knowing them to have been stolen.

THREE CARS

Currency estimated at £150,000 was recovered from three cars seized in Bournemouth.

A seaside resort of about 155,000 population, Bournemouth became the centre of the search as Scotland Yard aces flew in to grill the two principal suspects in their stepped-up hunt

Ore Ship Owners File Suit

MONTREAL (UPI) — Owners of the ore carrier Tritonica which sank in the St. Lawrence near Quebec City July 20 with the loss of 33 lives Thursday filed a $4,000,000 suit against the owners of the freighter Roonagh Head.

The two vessels collided in the pre-dawn hours. There were no casualties aboard the Roonagh Head, owned by the Ulster Steamships Co.

Roonagh Head Capt. William Haddock testified Thursday that weather conditions had been relatively clear before the collision, that the Tritonica had been picked up on the ship's radar and he had changed the Roonagh's course "slightly to starboard" before the impact.

Haddock testified the Tritonica suddenly appeared across the bow of the freighter.

Backfire

Tarred Woman Faker

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A woman, tarred and feathered and left in a burning house, Thursday told sheriff's deputies the incident was a hoax that backfired—literally.

Mrs. Katherine Harwell, in general hospital for treatment of severe burns on her torso, face and hands, implicated Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, property owners in the suburban city of Walnut.

Deputies picked up the Lewis couple and questioned them. But there was no clear explanation for the reason behind the hoax—other than that it was planned to "stir up a racial incident." Mrs. Harwell said she permitted the Lewis couple to apply tar and feathers to her body.

Firemen rescued Mrs. Harwell from the burning house in Walnut Tuesday night.

She told investigators three white men had burst into the house, applied tar and feathers, bound her and set the place ablaze.

Claims Commission to Settle All Grievances

By JOHN BIRD

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new era of justice, freedom of choice and human dignity was pledged Thursday night by Immigration Minister Favreau for Canada's 210,000 Indians.

He gave the undertaking in his capacity as superintendent-general of Indian affairs in a speech to the third annual conference of the National Indian Council of Canada. He elaborated on the government's decision to establish an Indian claims commission.

The commission, he said, will assess and settle all Indian claims and grievances against the federal government in a just and equitable manner.

Mr. Favreau, a French-Canadian member of the cabinet, gave this pledge to Indians:

"As a member of a proud minority group which, like yours, refused to die and never gave up its struggle, you will perhaps accept this assurance of my firm determination to ensure that justice, freedom of choice and human dignity are the enshrined principles of the administration of Indian affairs. In striving for this goal I trust that I shall have your confidence and the benefit of your representations and recommendations.

"I should expect that the commission will not be bound by strict legal rules of evidence, although it should have the powers of a court for the purpose of summoning witnesses and the production and inspection of documents.

"It is proposed that the commission be authorized to hear all claims referred to it by the government, as well as such groundless, or are you falling for the socialist soft sell?

Is the young party worker, who talks like a brush salesman about working for the collective good, representative of the new Soviet man, or is it just a convenient cover story?

Is it just coincidence when your new friend Svetlana, after gratefully accepting an extra opera ticket, calls to say she won't be able to go with you after all because her mother is sick?

Leaving aside such suspicions, and recognizing the realities of Berlin and disarmament will remain as long as East and West continue to argue from different premises, an impression of common humanity is what most visitors carry away from Moscow.

War Weary

The Soviets are as weary of war as any people in the world, and as full of goodwill as the most outgoing Americans. But make no mistake, Western voices warn — Nikita Khrushchev is out to beat us if he can. However genial the people, this is still the regime of the restricted spirit. There is no mechanism for gradual change, hardly any tolerated dissent; one jerk of the reins evokes remembered terror.

One evening, as rain touched the towers of the Kremlin across the way, I stood at the corner of Gorky Street and Karl Marx Avenue, with a plaque of Lenin behind me, and answered rapid-fire questions from passersby surging six deep around me.

Blazing Zeal

There was blazing zeal to know about the West. With a dark-skinned Kenyan as interpreter, we ranged over East-West problems, colonialism, racialism in the southern United States, Soviet achievements in space, unemployment in North America.

Everywhere, you are reminded that making even the smallest generalization about the Soviet Union is a frightening responsibility. For the country is unbelievably vast, larger than Canada and mainland China put together, as immense as all the Commonwealth.

Open Soul

Playing safe, therefore, you cling to a single lifeline in a sea of doubt. Whatever else is misleading, surely these warm-hearted Slavs are the real thing, as friendly and unspoiled as every chance encounter affirms, as ultimately compelling as old Moscow hands insist they are.

In sentimental moments, Russians speak shyly of their "orkrytaya dusha," or open soul.

A personal sample came when a burly Armenian engineer with black bushy moustache and dancing eyes, scraping acquaintance on the Kiev-Moscow train, regaled me with caviar, tall bottles of cognac taken with lemon and a heaping bowl of Georgian strawberries.

He wouldn't accept a ruble in return.

Know More

Possibly this is a central dilemma, the contrast between the open soul and the closed society, between human material and governmental machine; the people so intense in personal relationships, so glacial in foreign affairs.

When I asked what was thought of Canada, a bespectacled student answered in a flash:

"I know our weather is like yours, that you have many Ukrainians and that you are somehow different from Americans. I like what I know and I want to know more."

There wasn't a policeman in sight, and we were hard by Red Square. So far has the Soviet advanced in 10 years. People nodded quietly when I said we couldn't have talked so freely five year sago.

How to sum up? Tentatively, perhaps, the wishful Westerner may decide that Russia is a neurotic giant, a colossus conditioned by past experiences into extreme secretiveness and suspicion, fearful and complex-ridden, dragging behind it an outdated ideology; perhaps some day it may learn to live in comfort with a far-from-perfect West.

Cystic Fibrosis Mean, Baffling So Far an Incurable Disease

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about cystic fibrosis of the pancreas. Can anything be done for it?—D.R.M.

Cystic fibrosis is a mean and baffling disease that has been known only for the last two decades or thereabouts.

It usually affects the pancreas, but involves other parts of the body as well.

It occurs about once in every 2,000 or 3,000 people, apparently on a hereditary basis. If both parents happen to be "carriers" of the trait, the chances are about one in four that a child will have it.

It is a disorder affecting the glands which excrete fluids such as mucous, sweat and digestive enzymes. The patient has difficulty in digesting food (the products of the pancreas being necessary for digestion). Often the lungs and air passages are clogged with a sticky phlegm. Infections (flu, pneumonia or others) are hence a potential threat.

Since so far we have no way of doing much about the underlying glandular disorder and thus curing the disease, we have to attack it by abating the symptoms: The difficulty in absorbing nutrition; in the hampered breathing; in the constant risk of infection.

Carefully-chosen diets, antibiotics to ward off infection, and various medications to combat congestion in breathing are examples of such measures.

With new methods available, we can thwart the various complications much more successfully. Many children with the disease are going through school and growing up.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the meaning when the urine is clear like water? I am under the impression that I am not getting rid of the poison in my body. When I arise in the morning it has a natural color but after about six hours it is clear for the rest of the day.—E.M.

Why don't we file your question under the heading of excess worry? The color varies with a number of factors. In the morning it is more concentrated. After your morning coffee, and water or other fluids during the day, it becomes more dilute and lighter in color. The nitrogen wastes are being carried away as required.

You'll notice a difference in hot summer weather, because again the urine is more concentrated. Why? Because so much more moisture is lost by perspiration. The opposite tends to be true in winter because we perspire less and the urine is lighter in color.

Note to Mrs. J.B.: When an eight-year-old child stammers, he should have some professional attention. Nervous tension seems the likeliest cause; I would investigate that before resorting to speech therapy.

Courtroom Parade

Rider Sent to Jail

A wild ride through city streets which ended up in a crash led to a 55-day jail sentence for David A. Porter, 18, 3124 Yew, in city magistrate's court yesterday.

Police were called to Mayfair Shopping Centre by a report that someone was racing a motorcycle, and a chase began which involved speeds up to 80 miles an hour.

The chase led from Finlayson to Douglas, onto Carey, then Tillicum and finally onto Burnside, where the speeding motorcycle hit 110 miles an hour but ran out of fuel and piled up on a traffic divider on Douglas Street. The driver fled before police arrived. Police estimated he was doing 45 miles an hour when he hit the turn.

About $60 damage was done to the motorcycle.

"It is a miracle you weren't killed," said Magistrate William Ostler. "The difficulty with people like you is, you usually kill other people instead of yourselves, which would be preferable."

He said the accused's action was disgraceful criminal conduct.

Porter offered to pay the damage.

He was sentenced to 30 days for taking the motorcycle without the owner's consent, 20 days for dangerous driving and five days for having no driver's licence. He will not be allowed to drive anywhere in Canada for the next three years.

A young man who had been getting along well but allowed his record to deteriorate during the last year was sentenced yesterday to 10 months definite and four months indefinite by Magistrate Ostler.

Curtis Till had already pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing from a cash box at Morrison Chevrolet-Oldsmobile while he was employed as a gas pump attendant. Yesterday he pleaded guilty to breaking into a general store in Ganges.

Magistrate Ostler said Till's probation report showed there was a great deal of good in him.

"You have shown commendable ambition. You have tried to better yourself and increase your education. Your early years have been difficult," he said.

Magistrate Ostler suggested Till take subjects he required for his Grade 13 education while he was serving his sentence. If the accused followed this advice, the sentence would be greatly to his advantage, Magistrate Ostler said.

A man who was already sentenced in city magistrate's court last week on charges of uttering forged cheques was sentenced to two years on two similar charges in Saanich magistrate's court yesterday.

Sentences to Paul Schultz, no fixed address, are to be concurrent with those on the city charges.

Five Charged

for more of the gang, estimated between 20 and 30, that plundered the Glasgow-London mail train near Cheddington a week ago.

The London hunt, showing results after a frustrating week of work under the glare of world headlines and local pressure, also was intensified.

CAUGHT ON TIP

The Bournemouth pair were caught on a tip from a woman who said the two men had stopped her to inquire about renting lodgings and a garage. She said she became suspicious when they offered to pay three months rent in advance.

Police revealed that the two arrested men, both about 45, had been living by themselves for the last few days in a rented apartment in Moordown, near Bournemouth.

NOT A LOT

Some money—"Not a lot"—was also found in the apartment, police said. The two were expected to be brought before a magistrate's court today at Linslade, near the scene of the robbery in Buckinghamshire, 45 miles northwest of London.

When police arrived, the two put up a struggle in the streets. One was brought down by a football-playing detective's flying tackle.

Later two cars and a truck were seized. Each is estimated to have yielded up to £50,000 in currency.

Flying squads working around the clock in London took two women into custody from a house in Fulham, and nabbed another male suspect. Details were withheld.

NO REST

Even aside from the manhunt, there was no rest for Scotland Yard's crime hunters.

From the offices of a Cambridge building firm, safe robbers made off Wednesday night with £10,000 ($30,000).

Police have received hundreds of calls about the train robbery from informers tempted by record rewards totalling some $728,000.

TAKEN OVER

Scotland Yard announced Thursday that Detective Chief Superintendent, Thomas Butler, one of Britain's top crime fighters, had taken over all charge of the manhunt.

Meanwhile bank experts planned to check the seized banknotes to see whether they came from the huge shipment of old bills being sent to London aboard the robbed train for repulping.

In London, all available teams of "flying squad" detectives were standing by to carry out further searches and arrests.

Quake Registers

Two violent earth tremors which shook a city in Peru Thursday were recorded on a seismograph at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory near Victoria.

The observatory recorded an intensity of seven on the Richter scale from the earthquake which started at 10:36.10 a.m.

The tremors shook the city of Huaraz, 250 miles north of Lima, causing minor damage to some houses. No casualties were reported in the city of 12,000.

A slight tremor also shook Arequipa, 600 miles suoth of Lima, without damage, on Thursday.

President Fernando Belaunde Terry was in Arequipa at the time, attending the city's 423rd anniversary celebration.

Army Takes Over

President Quits As Congo Riots

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP)—President Fulbert Youlou resigned under angry public demand Thursday and the army assumed power until a new government can be formed. There is no way of knowing now who will succeed him.

Two army captains named Mountabakany and Moutsaka were placed for the time being in joint command of this young equatorial African nation, a little neighbor of the former Belgian Congo.

RIOTING, UNREST

The only chief executive the Congo Republic has ever had, Youlou gave up the presidency on the third anniversary of its independence from France under the pressure of rioting and unrest among strikers hotly opposed to his political and social policies.

The stocky little one-time Roman Catholic parish priest, 46, made his announcement from the steps of the presidential palace before more than 10,000 Congolese demanding his resignation.

Satellite in Position High Above Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP)—Space agency scientists said Thursday they have placed the Syncom II, satellite, launched July 26, on station 22,300 miles over Brazil.

The world's first virtually synchronous satellite was placed in position to enable 24-hour trans-Atlantic communication. Scientists expect Syncom II to stay put for two years.

Exhuming Shakespeare 'Clod-Hopping Outrage'

LONDON — Sir Laurence Olivier says the move to open Shakespeare's tomb at Stratford on Avon is a "clod-hopping, jack-booted outrage."

The noted Shakespearean actor and director of the British National Theatre was incensed at reports he might support the action which some contend might prove whether Shakespeare wrote the plays credited to him.

Sir Laurence authorized the National Theatre to say:

"His belief is profound that Shakespeare wrote the plays himself. He considers that doubts about this are promoted by lack of faith in the possibility of genius in the human species, in any temple to the ascent of man's worth building, and are exercised by considerations of pedestrian minds."

Drug Suspects Slated For Return to Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Montrealers, arrested in France when a 13-pound cache of heroin was seized, are expected to be returned home next week to testify at the preliminary hearing of Roger LaPierre, 40.

Federal Prosecutor Pierre Lamontagne disclosed the Crown's intention to return the pair to Montreal when LaPierre appeared Thursday before Judge Paul Hurteau on charges of conspiring to bring narcotics into Canada and drug trafficking.

10 WITNESSES

Mr. LaMontagne also said the prosecution plans to bring about 10 other witnesses from Europe.

Judge Hurteau postponed LaPierre's preliminary hearing to Aug. 22.

LaPierre and Anatole Ethier, 35, of Hull, Que., were arrested here after French authorities seized the heroin Aug. 7 in the false bottom of a trunk at Orly Airport and arrested the two Montrealers there.

The value of the cache was placed at $3,000,000 on the underworld market. Another nine pounds of heroin were believed to have been distributed or hidden before the seizure.

Ethier, charged with conspiracy, also appeared in court Thursday and his preliminary hearing was delayed to Sept. 3.

RCMP Think Winnipeg Drug Centre

WINNIPEG (CP) — RCMP suspect that bulk heroin is diluted in Winnipeg for illicit sale elsewhere in Canada, the Tribune says.

The newspaper says several men are believed in on the illegal operation.

The story said the RCMP, which wages a constant war on drug trafficking, suspects the men of working for a national crime syndicate which may have international connections.

Heroin, according to the theory, is shipped into Winnipeg from the U.S. in bulk, diluted in inert substances such as powdered milk and sugar and sent to other Canadian cities for sale to addicts in capsules.

Shoot with Votes

WINNIPEG (UPI) — Canadian Indians, who many years ago gave up their war against the white man, were urged yesterday to wage modern-day warfare to gain their rights and objectives.

Eugene Rheaume, Conservative member of Parliament for the Northwest Territories, said the Indians' vote was as powerful today as their guns and ammunition were a century ago.

Mr. Rheaume was taking part in a panel discussion on community development at the third annual conference of the National Indian Council, which opened here yesterday.

TOLD TO UNITE

He urged Indians to unite and to make demands of their elected representatives—before promising their votes at election time. He said the promises made to Indians are similar to those made by politicians before an election.

Mr. Rheaume said one of the biggest problems facing Canada's Indians was their feeling that they are second-class citizens. "You're almost right," he told them, "but it's not because you are Indians."

MUST FEEL RIGHT

He explained that it was because Indians did not have the things that make first-class citizens, including decent clothing and housing. "You can't feel like a first-class citizen when you have to walk down the street in rags and live in shacks," he said.

Rheaume said the Indians knew what they needed and wanted but did not know how to go about getting it. This is where community development officers become important, he added.

Delegates attacked a section of the Indian act allowing all three levels of government to expropriate reservation lands, and one delegate—Carl Lewis of Toronto—said this caused Indians to lose interest in stability.

All 12 Died In Crash

claims as may be made before it by Indian bands or other identifiable groups of Indians.

Mr. Favreau said he hopes that the commission will help restore complete confidence of Indians in the Indian affairs branch, "whose unfailing devotion to their welfare and progress merits the highest commendation."

He had no illusions about the difficulties that stand in the way of achieving one of the fundamental and long-range objectives of government policy—full integration of the Indians freely assented to into the main stream of Canadian life while encouraging them to maintain their own cultural identity.

As a jurist, he said he has been aware for some time that to an appreciable degree, distrust and resentment on the part of Indians are rooted in the Indian Act.

"With the passage of time and rapidly changing economic and social conditions, some of its provisions have come to appear harsh and oppressive."

RICHARD BOWER, Editor-in-Chief

A Fair Shake

ON BEHALF of the Indians of Canada Chief Aldred Cook of Manitoba has asked this country's citizens of other racial origins to accept his people as equals.

Speaking as president of the Manitoba Indian Brotherhood, Chief Cook told the National Indian Council in Winnipeg: "Up to now we have been considered second and third-class Canadians, and often people say we are not Canadians at all, but Indians.

"If you come right down to it, we are the most full-blooded Canadians you can find and all we want is a fair shake."

Chief Cook is right and his request is small. So small is it, indeed, that it pales almost to insignificance when compared with the demands put forward by many other minority groups whose numbers certainly exceed those of the native Indian but whose claims on Canada merit considerably less attention.

For far too long has the plight of our Indian and Eskimo fellow citizens been ignored. Barred in many communities by outmoded laws and prejudices, they have been denied the right to take their places among the rest of us in the development of our country and to share in its resultant profit of a better life.

There are few Canadians of other races who do not know this to be true and bear the knowledge heavily. True, some concessions have been made to the Indian people in recent years—such as the appointment of an Indian senator, the extension of the franchise among them and a relaxation of the liquor laws which formerly prohibited them from buying spirits in some provinces—but in the main they have been so picayune as to border on condescension.

The Indian is not asking for special treatment. He is but pleading to be recognized and treated as any other Canadian citizen. He requests nothing but a "fair shake."

The time has come to give it to him and also the fellowship and understanding that goes with it.

New Hope for Kenya

JOMO KENYATTA, former leader of the Mau Mau and now prime minister of Kenya has accomplished the impossible: he has been applauded by the white settlers against whom the brunt of his former terrorist activities was once mainly directed.

This astonishing reversal of sentiment displayed by the East African country's Anglo-Saxon farmers resulted from Kenyatta unexpectedly holding out to them the hand of friendship.

Urging them to forgive and forget the past and join with Africans in creating a new nation, he said: "If I have made a mistake I ask you to forgive me and vice versa. We want you to stay and to farm well in this country. Let us try to join hands for the benefit of Kenya."

By reassuring the white population that it has a place in Kenya and a part to play in its future, and will no longer be living under the threat of victimization as a white minority in a black country, Kenyatta has at once demonstrated his statesmanship and his ability to negate in a word the earlier and frequent threats made against the European residents by his more vociferous but less responsible ministers.

If Kenyatta, once called "Burning Spear" because of his rabid black nationalism and hatred of whites, can maintain his new policy of tolerance he can indeed lay claim to a great victory—a victory whose fruits will be a strong and united nation and an example to the rest of Africa and all the world.

Toxic Warfare Peril

IN THE UNPREDICTABLE weather of the Pacific Northwest, it is becoming increasingly apparent that aerial spraying of insecticides, fertilizers and other aids to comfortable living and better horticulture, are fraught with more than the usual perils.

The recent case in which nearly 40 people were sent to hospital in the Yakima Valley of Washington, the damage was done by temperature inversion which caused the airplane-strewn insecticide to hover in the air and finally descend where and when it was not intended.

In this incident no human being was killed, fortunately, but at least two cows are reported to have died. Experts on the scene said the atmospheric behavior was most unusual and that chemicals of the sort had been sprayed many times in the past without creating any problem.

Another case, and one with more serious results perhaps, happened last month in British Columbia, when spraying of an insecticide to kill mosquitoes and make life more pleasant for the tourists, had disastrous effects on the famous Adams River sockeye run.

In this case, an air spraying company dropping the insecticide over a resort area at Scotch Creek near the mouth of the Adams River, was also unlucky enough to make one of its passes across the river. As a result up to one million sockeye fry, together with lake trout and other fish were killed.

It is true that the law is empowered to deal potently with those who pollute fresh water, and there is no doubt that the Scotch Creek incident was an unfortunate accident.

However, that does not alter the fact that persons employed in spraying toxic liquids and powders from the air have a tremendous responsibility.

It should not be good enough to say that they made a genuine mistake when things go wrong. The public is entitled to demand that regulations of a stringent nature are created that will make such accidents virtually impossible. Every flyer with a spray in his undercarriage is nothing more than a potential participant in a form of toxic warfare.

Short Term

HON. J. W. PICKERSGILL (Secretary of State): Mr. Speaker, I would think the life expectancy of this group is so short that it would not be worth while.

Right Hon. J. G. Diefenbaker (Leader of the Opposition): Mr. Speaker, that is the first time I have ever heard the minister refer to those associated with him as "this group."

Mr. Pickersgill: On a question of privilege, sir, I think the right hon. gentleman must have misunderstood the question. It was the group associated with him to which the question related.

Mr. Diefenbaker: No, you cannot fix it up.

Britain's Progress

University Expansion

THE British government is to increase the grants it makes to universities, both for building and for annual expenses. This, and a 10 per cent salary increase for university staff in December 19 2, are recent steps in the rapid expansion of university education which has been taking place in Britain over the last decade. In 1960 and 1961 the government approved the foundation of six new universities which will bring the total in the United Kingdom to 32.

The demand for higher education, particularly in science and technology, has been growing steadily in recent years as nearly 5 per cent more pupils have stayed on in the schools each year for the purpose of qualifying for university entrance, and the numbers of postgraduate workers have also risen. The pressure for university places over the next decade will be maintained as the children born soon after the Second World War, when the birth rate rose to a peak, reach university age.

Altogether eight universities have been founded since the Second World War; these are Keele (founded as the University College of North Staffordshire in 1949) which attained full university status in 1962; the University of Sussex (at Brighton), which was founded in 1958 and took its first students in 1961; East Anglia (at Norwich), and York, both founded in 1960 and opening to students in 1963. East Anglia with about 120 and York with 200; Essex (at Colchester), Kent at Canterbury, and Warwick (at Coventry) which were all founded in 1961 and which plan to take their first students in 1964. Approval was given for another university, the University of the North West, in 1961, and in 1962 Lancaster was chosen as the site. It will take its first students in 1964 or 1965.

These universities have either petitioned for royal charters, or will do so before admitting their first students, to give them full university status and enable them to grant their own degrees. This is a change from earlier practice by which new universities began as university colleges preparing their students for external degrees of London University for a period of years before receiving their royal charters. It means that from the outset these universities will have greater freedom in determining the scope and organization of their work than they would have had by teaching for the degrees of an established university.

Keele and Sussex offer a wider range of study than is customary in the specialized three years' honors courses of other universities. At Keele all students take a first year general course before doing a three-year course with major subjects chosen from both the arts and sciences. The Sussex three-year courses cover a wide range of related subjects and York, East Anglia, Warwick and Kent have announced that they, too, will adopt broad curricula.

Keele has all its students in residence and the new universities aim eventually to have a high proportion of their students living in, or at least attached to, residential units. Sussex is building two halls of residence. East Anglia, Essex and Warwick have announced that they also plan to have a number of halls of residence. Students at East Anglia will live in a prefabricated village until their permanent buildings are ready. At York, Kent and the University of the North West students will be attached to colleges, although it is expected that only about 50 per cent will be in residence at one time.

At present there are over 117,000 full-time students in Great Britain's existing universities, compared with 50,000 in 1938-39 and it is planned to increase the numbers further to 150,000 in 1966-67 and 170,000 in the early 1970s. The new universities will play an important part in helping to achieve these targets; by the 1970s each of them hopes to have 3,000 students. About 60 per cent of the increase in student numbers will be absorbed by existing institutions.

About 75 per cent of university day to day expenditure and over 90 per cent of capital expenditure is financed by grants voted by Parliament. Recurrent expenditure is voted on a five-yearly basis and non-recurrent grants for buildings and other expenditure on the basis of the amount of building work which may be started in any one year.

With the expansion in student numbers has gone an increase in the recurrent annual grants from $60 million in 1952-53 to $170 million in 1962-63; by 1966-67 the grant will have risen to $240 million excluding special grants for salary and local tax increases. Non-recurrent grants for new buildings alone rose from $17 million in 1952 to $75 million in 1962 and will rise to $100 million in 1965; these sums do not include expenditure on the acquisition of sites, professional fees and the provision of furniture and equipment. This intensive development in university building began in 1953 with the decision to embark on a large scale expansion of the Imperial College of Science and Technology in the University of London. The amount actually spent on all capital projects between 1953 and 1962 was $390 million.

In the early months of the war Brock was the heart and soul of the defence of Upper Canada. For the audacity of his attack on Detroit, Brock was gazetted a KCB although the news did not reach Canada until after his death in defeating American invaders at the Battle of Queenston Heights in October, 1812.

Ottawa Offbeat

Spreading the Benefit

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

IT looks as if some of the few members of Parliament who did not vote in favor of their pay increase really meant it.

J. J. Greene, Liberal member from Renfrew South, has some strong ideas on the subject, at any rate.

He abstained from the pay vote and is now turning over his monthly slices of the $8,000 raise to service clubs in his riding for charitable work—for a while.

The "while" is the time it takes the government to boost old-age pensions by $10 a month. This has tentatively been planned for the first of the year, so Mr. Greene will not have too long to wait.

And while he is waiting, how much will he really be losing?

A cynic could suggest that Mr. Greene, an able lawyer, might be able to work things around tax-wise so that he's still better off than he was before he got the raise.

He gets $6,000 of his total pay tax-free, which means a saving of close to $1,800 on income tax.

And if he turns over the $8,000 to charity from the taxable portion of his income, he is allowed to deduct it, up to 10 per cent of his net income (which, for an MP, is in the neighborhood of $12,000, so the deduction could be $1,200 and the tax saving about $360).

In addition, donations not claimed in one tax year because of the limit can be carried over to the next. It would save more money.

This is not necessarily what Mr. Greene has in mind, but certainly the way is open to him.

As a successful lawyer, he is not so pinched financially as some other MPs in different lines of business.

But even some successful lawyers have their troubles.

Late last year Health Minister Judy LaMarsh — then an Opposition member — declared she would not run again unless pay was increased.

She had a good law business, but she could not tend to it properly while in the Commons and was sliding deeper in debt each year.

Fisheries Minister Hedard Robichaud, a businessman in New Brunswick, said the same thing. His business was slipping toward bankruptcy and he would not run again.

What convinced them to stand again for election is known to few people, but stand they did and now find it quite worth while.

As ministers of the Crown, that $8,000 increase brought their incomes up to $35,000 a year, which seems to compensate for any losses.

Some of the fringe benefits which came with the raise have also proved to be popular with MPs.

When the Commons recessed, the airlines had a sudden rush of passengers heading all over the country — waving passes.

And the incidence of telephone calls home from the Centre Block picked up when it became known the bills could be charged to the government.

Having voted themselves all this extra financial help, many MPs were braced to fight off an angry onslaught by the people.

Complaining letters and telegrams, however, failed to materialize — only a handful arrived in the Centre Block before Parliament recessed.

It began to appear to the pleased legislators that people understood their peculiar situation and actual need for the money and they departed for home with warmer feelings than usual for their constituents.

Something else which may have warmed them was the first instalment on their new pay.

The raises were made retroactive to April 8, the day the new Parliament came into being, so the first cheques sent were to cover the period of 17 weeks between that date and the day the act came into force.

So, in their first week of vacation, MPs received payment of something in the neighborhood of $2,800, before taxes.

What others are doing with the money is hard to say, but this gives Mr. Greene the opportunity of beginning his charitable program with a bang—which he is reported to have done.

Some old-age pensioners in his riding may be sorry to see their own $10 raises come through.

And between the dark and bright

Pure one, from your pride refrain:
Dark and lost amid the strife
I am myriad years of pain

New Movement

Freedom Songs

By JOYCE EGGINTON from New York

A NEW folk song movement is sweeping the United States. Its music is made up of remembered tunes gathered from the chapels in the "Bible belt" of the Deep South, from plantation choruses of the slave days, and from the militant period of American trade union campaigns. The words, however, are modern and are sung daily by Negroes at sit-in demonstrations on marches, picket lines and in jails.

As the passive resistance campaign has spread, the songs have become so well known—to whites as well as Negroes—that records of them are now being issued, music printed, and they have been gathered into the repertoires of some of America's leading folk singers.

Four of these artists have recently arranged for publication the theme song of the freedom movement: an adaptation of an old Baptist hymn, "We Shall Overcome." Today there is not an American Negro who can fail to be stirred by its deep, swelling strains. "It could well become another 'Battle Hymn of the Republic' or 'John Brown's Body'," the publisher, Mr. Howard Richmond, predicts.

The song was resurrected by Negro workers on picket lines in Charleston, South Carolina, seven years ago. The words were adapted to the occasion, and since then have been added to and changed again. The main verse now goes:

We shall overcome, we shall overcome
We shall overcome some day.
O, deep in my heart I do believe
We shall overcome some day.

Leaders of civil rights demonstrations say that this, like all the freedom movement songs, achieves the aim of arousing emotion, militancy, a quiet courage and a feeling of identification with the cause. Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, a Negro leader from Atlanta, Georgia, who has been jailed many times for his part in civil rights demonstrations, remarked:

"One cannot describe the vitality and emotion that this hymn, "We Shall Overcome," evokes across the southland. I have heard it in great mass meetings with a thousand voices singing as one. I've heard half-a-dozen sing it softly behind the bars of Hinds County prison in Mississippi. I've heard old women sing it on their way to work in Georgia. I've heard students singing it as they were being dragged away to jail. It generates power that is indescribable."

From this sprang another song to the same tune, designed for sit-in demonstrations: "We Shall Not Be Moved." This also has many verses, another of which begins, "We Will Fill Up All the Jails . . ."

One of the favorites has been adapted from the Negro spiritual "Let My People Go." The words are now completely changed, one verse referring to an incident at Anniston, Alabama, on the first freedom ride, when a crowd of unruly whites set fire to a bus full of Negro and white demonstrators, causing several serious injuries. It runs:

"Through Alabama we did ride,
Let my people go.
The buses burned while we were inside,
Let my people go.
Go down, freedom
Way down in Alabama,
Tell old Patterson
To let my people go."

Patterson is the governor of Alabama. Another verse about Mississippi expresses similar sentiments toward that state's governor, Ross Barnett.

Governor Barnett is mentioned in another freedom song, adapted from a trade union tune sung by miners in the depression days. That, too, had sunk into oblivion until it was rewritten as:

"They say in Hinds County
No neutrals have we met,
You are either for the freedom fight
Or you'll Tom for Ross Barnett."

(Hinds County is the area around Jackson, Mississippi, the scene of many mass demonstrations. To "Tom" is a common expression. It refers to the hero of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and means: To play up to the white man for one's personal gain and to the detriment of one's race.)

In few cases are the authors of the songs known. The words have usually been made up on the spur of the moment during a march or demonstration, and because they are highly repetitive they have been quickly picked up by the masses. Two of America's leading folk singers, Pete Seeger and Theo Bikel, have sung many of the freedom songs at concerts attended by white segregationists in the Deep South. Strangely enough, the audiences were not annoyed. The music was new to them and they thought it pleasantly entertaining.

A Residential Town

ARE sawmill plants which cut logs down to dimension lumber really necessary in Victoria? Why are they located here?

Some 50 years ago it was the practice, and economic, to locate in areas where the labor pool was available and this was so, when Chinatown was the centre where cheap, unorganized labor existed and practically within walking distance.

Today labor is drawn from widely scattered areas and uses automobiles and so forth for transportation to and from the mills and other industry.

Timber in the vicinity has almost been cut out and logs now are drawn many miles by water and rail methods of transport from up-Island points.

Would it not be reasonable to relocate the mills closer to the log source and cut logs down to slabbed or squared timber? This would eliminate the smoke nuisance from waste burners trying to burn up salt-soaked bark and sawmill waste.

Victoria is destined to be a home town and residential area and must not be burdened by industries cheek and jowl. The lumber industry is very important to B.C. but the operators must realize their responsibilities in this automated complex today. High-rise apartments and other required residential needs must not be swathed in smoke and other airborne nuisances.

PROGRESSIVE.

Losing Money

We now learn that the take-over of the B.C. Electric Company by the Social Credit government was illegal, and the payment made for same insufficient by $21,000,000 and more; but what about the case of the thousands of bond-holders?

Many of the B.C. Electric shares were of low interest rate, due to be retired in a few years. The government, however, issued new bonds at the same rate of interest, but advanced the date of maturity to 25 years.

The bond holders cannot now sell them without losing considerable money. This is a form of trickery which surely should never be permitted with industrial bonds, or, of course, any kind of bonds.

Era of Grab

It seems deplorable that at this point in Canada's history we appear to have entered on a glorified era of greed and grab. The recent most glaring instance of this was the unprecedented rise in federal members' indemnities to $18,000 a year. It is argued that this will call better men into our political life. The unselfish patriot I should say never. High parliamentary pay in former days in Britain was never the cause of the production of statesmen of the stature of Pitt and Wilberforce, Gladstone and Peel.

It is also stated that these men are subject to many financial calls. Well, since I served for ten years as secretary for three provincial premiers in succession I ought to know. Yet it seems to me that this forced generosity for the propitiation of partisans and supporters might well be reduced if ministers and members were able honestly to tell the applicants that on the indemnity received they could not afford such luxurious liberality. After all public men are supposed to be elected for service and not for gifts.

Invasion

The Colonist's stand against the sending of a publication advertising a sex film to homes in Greater Victoria was well taken. I fully agree with the editorial; it was indeed a gross invasion of privacy. The provocative "Lolita-like" drawing of the girl on the front page was more suggestive of pornography than of an instructive film on sex education.

I should like to see an investigation started as to why the Canada Post Office issued a permit and allowed this sort of mail to be forced into private homes in Greater Victoria.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

I met Churchill five times, as nearly as I can recall. But it never took. The last time was in Ottawa when Churchill visited Canada in 1942 during the darkest days of the submarine menace. In accordance with one of the dopiest of rituals involving the great of this world, they took Churchill out to Uplands where, on a bitter winter morning, he had to toddle through the slush and inspect a guard of honor of air force 'erks.

Mackenzie King was slogging along slightly in rear of the dogged Churchill and he noticed me among the platoon of newspapermen scurrying along in their wake.

"Ah, Mr. Prime Minister," said King, "I'd like to present Mr. Clark, who accompanied me on my flight to Britain . . ."

"Ah-joh-doo!" said Churchill briefly over his shoulder.

I think neither Mr. King nor I made much impression on the volatile, wonderful old man.

Dead Idealist's Diary Used as Example

Disillusioned Youth Worry Chinese

* * * * * *

By KIP COOPER from Tokyo

Communist Chinese leaders are intensifying efforts to re-orient politically disillusioned youths.

Rebellious actions characterized openly-voiced doubts and general opposition to Communist teachings have increased among the elite of Red China's young people.

This apparent political defection of its young people has jarred Peking, accordings to admissions in its own press.

The Red Chinese press speaks of a nationwide campaign to improve young people's mental outlook and to recapture their loyalty. Major emphasis is placed on eulogizing a young soldier whose actions the Reds consider ideal.

The soldier being "used" is Lei Feng, who was killed in an accident last August while trying to get a truck out of the mud. In a country where human life is so expendable, Lei's death ordinarily would have gone unnoticed. Lei, however, was catapulted to hero status when it was discovered he kept a diary praising the Communist system, condemning revisionism and expressing extravagant admiration of Mao Tse-tung.

Discovery of the 200.000-word diary started a "Learn From Lei Feng" movement personally ordered by Mao. Communist leaders proclaimed that the thoughts and deeds recorded in Lei's diary presented the prototype of the virtues they had failed to instill in youth generally.

Mao is using Red China's huge youth organizations to spearhead the "Learn From Lei Feng" campaign. These are the Young Communist League with 25,000,000 members aged from 15 to 28 and the Young Pioneers of China with 50,000,000 members between 9 and 15.

Hundreds of story-tellers have been trained to lure the youngsters. These people roam the countryside telling tales of past Communist struggles. School teachers gather and exhibit worn military clothing and revolutionary equipment worn by Mao's guerrillas. A publishing house has produced over 30 new books of stories, songs, poems and plays exalting the "heroes" who brought communism and "its blessings" to China.

Most Asians are astounded by the program. There are 250,000,000 children in Red China under the age of 18 with no knowledge of life except under communism. That Peking should find an urgent need to whip up political fervor and support among these teenagers is of great interest to Asian observers.

Observers familiar with the ways of Asians say Peking is going to have to come up with something better than a dead man's image to win back the loyalty of the youngsters.

Announcement Expected Today

Germany WILL Sign

By STERLING SLAPPEY
from Bonn

Former Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss is waging a spirited rearguard fight, on emotional and political grounds, against West Germany signing the nuclear test ban treaty.

But despite Strauss' efforts, it is widely accepted in Germany that West Germany will today instruct its ambassadors in Washington, London and Moscow to sign the treaty.

The cabinet of Chancellor Adenauer is expected to vote overwhelmingly today in favor of acceding to the treaty. The cabinet vote could be as one-sided as 19 to 2.

Adenauer, who has delayed until Monday his departure for Cadenabia, Italy, and his traditional late-summer holiday, now favors the treaty after a period of wavering for fear that it would extend a measure of recognition to East Germany.

Strauss heads the Christian Social Union Bavarian wing of the ruling Christian Democratic Union, and his party has four cabinet posts. These ministers ordinarily take their political orders from Strauss. Two of the four are believed to have deserted Strauss and gone over to the pro-treaty side.

Strauss, who was ousted from Adenauer's cabinet last year for his part in the "Spiegel affair," has since been making a political comeback based on his personal following in Bavaria.

In Bonn he was considered to be trying to use the possibility of the treaty increasing Communist East Germany prestige as an emotional lever.

... efforts thwarted

One of Strauss' arguments is that West Germany already has renounced nuclear weapons. He cites a German declaration of 1954 to the Western European Union which says Germany will not undertake to manufacture on its territory any atomic, chemical or biological weapons.

But despite what Strauss says, this declaration does not go as far as the treaty. The treaty says that signing nations undertake to "refrain from causing, encouraging, or in any way participating in" weapons testing.

Under the simpler 1954 declaration, West Germany could, for example, manufacture nuclear devices in a foreign country such as Egypt or France, or it could contribute funds toward French nuclear research.

The treaty would stop testing of such devices regardless of where they were made or by what combination of nations.

During the past week the rumor has been revived that President de Gaulle has put out unofficial feelers to determine if West Germany might not be willing to make some financial contribution to French nuclear research.

Many German leaders say they have not heard this rumor and do not believe it to be true. But the rumor persists.

Test Ban Treaty

Senate Weakens

By HAROLD MORRISON from Washington

Though haunted by some doubts and misgivings, the U.S. senate in all likelihood will approve the partial nuclear test-ban treaty while supporting a continuing build-up in American missile forces.

The burden of testimony before the Senate foreign relations committee, where the treaty is being examined, indicates a majority of Americans want the treaty approved. Vote-conscious senators cannot ignore public sentiment.

In addition, the committee is assured by the U.S. leadership that U.S. military spending will not be reduced. There will be no relaxation in the military build-up, including plans to increase the present force of 500 missiles to 1,700 by 1966.

The doubts arise from traditional distrust of Soviet intentions. Time and again, during committee hearings, senators referred to a Soviet history of breached agreements and broken promises. Can the U.S. depend on Russia to keep its word this time?

Moreover, what is the true nature of the Soviet - Chinese split? Will it widen or disappear? Is the treaty an indication Russia wants a truce with the West while battling the Red Chinese clamor for war? Or is it merely an instrument to obtain Western diplomatic recognition of East Germany?

Senatorial opinion is mixed. Questioning of high - ranking government witnesses brings no fixed conclusions, for the witnesses themselves seem unsure just which way the wind is blowing in the Kremlin.

The one major conviction which appears to have impressed the senate is that expressed by President Kennedy that the treaty is a shaft of light in the darkness; that it may point the way to further progress in Soviet-Western negotiations towards a more settled peace.

Meanwhile, the dangers of harmful radiation will be lessened. Present contamination caused by fallout may well be within the bounds of what mankind can absorb without genetic harm, but as State Secretary Dean Rusk says, "no one can say for certain how much fallout is too much."

The newspaper strike in New York and Cleveland earlier this year hurt sales of Price Bros. in the first half of 1963. The big Quebec newsprint firm announced its first half of 1963 net profit was $2,936,000 compared with $4,608,000 in the first half of 1962.

Rails Create Stir at N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a premature celebration Thursday of what looked like near-settlement of the railroad labor dispute and the result was the fifth straight daily advance.

The ticker tape ran as much as four minutes late in the final hour amidst a flurry of contradictory reports. Rail stocks zoomed to outsized gains following publication of a report that unions had accepted a new proposal to end the rail dispute which now threatens a U.S.-wide strike Aug. 29.

When the labor department denied that any new proposal had been made, rail stocks backed away rapidly from their advances but they still had a substantial rise at the close.

New Action Due In Gas Probe

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Fred Cass indicated Wednesday action is expected soon in the renewed probe of Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company deals in the light of evidence he has received from British Columbia investigators.

Three former Ontario cabinet ministers resigned as a result of stock deal disclosures five years ago. The investigation was reopened last year when new evidence was discovered in B.C.

Britain Gains in Mart

Out, But Not Down

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

So far Britain's failure to get into the European Common Market does not appear to have affected its trading with that exclusive and powerful community.

The U.K. information office reports British exports to the ECM rose by six per cent in the first half of 1963, and the vigorous expansion covered all six countries, particularly France.

Thus, says the U.K. office, the failure of the Brussels negotiations has had no adverse influence on Britain's trade with the community so far, but "it is too early to say how it will be affected by the further steps towards the establishment of a customs union between the six which were taken at the beginning of July."

Largely because of the increased business with the ECM, western Europe has become Britain's largest export market, with the sterling area in second place.

Thus it would appear Britain, so far as the ECM is concerned, is out but not down.

OMISSION CRITICIZED

Cowichan Copper Ltd. came under criticism this week for publishing its financial statement for the year ended April 30 without an accompanying report either from O. G. MacDonald, president, or the board of directors.

The accounts showed Cowichan had a considerable excess of liabilities over assets, that money was owing to the banks and that royalties to Consolidated Mining and Smelting were in arrears.

A director of Cowichan Thursday explained the situation was not so bad as the printed reports made them out to be, but agreed the omission of a statement from the board "was unfortunate."

John McAvity, Vancouver, a director of the company with a mill-mine operation at Jordan River, said yesterday in an interview:

"The general public does not appreciate the fact that Cowichan had assets but no cash when it took over the Jordan River operation. The company raised the cash required by borrowing and did not increase its number of shares outstanding."

He said over $2,000,000 had been borrowed from Japanese firms who were purchasing the company's copper concentrates under contract over the next four years, and that further loans had been made from the company's bankers.

"At the end of the last fiscal year, the company owed about $2,000,000 of which about $300,000 was in deferred accounts," said Mr. McAvity. "Since then output from the mills has increased and all royalty payments are up to date. We think by next summer most of the company's debts will be paid off."

He said the latest consulting engineering report on the property at Jordan River was that reserves of 1,500,000 tons had been established and that the copper grade was higher than in earlier estimates.

"Cowichan reckons that it can make $5 a ton profit from this ore, for a total $7,500,000 operating profit.

He admitted that owing to trouble in the crushing machinery, Cowichan had not managed to maintain its daily output at all times, but he expected the 1,500 tons a day goal would now be maintained.

Death Toll to Exceed '62?

Mounting Road Carnage Points to Black Year

The most up-to-date traffic statistics, released yesterday by the motor vehicles branch, indicate B.C. highway deaths in 1963 probably will exceed last year's toll.

Comparison of monthly totals for June show 17 per cent increase in traffic accidents, to 2,546, and 32 traffic deaths—an increase of 19 per cent.

The branch reported a six per cent increase in traffic accidents in the first six months of the current year and an 18 per cent increase in fatalities.

DEATHS UP

Up to June 30 highway traffic deaths totalled 156, compared with 132 at the mid-point of 1962.

There were 13,213 highway accidents during the period, compared with 12,416 in the first six months of 1962.

MORE VEHICLES

The report also noted a six per cent increase in the number of motor vehicle and motorcycle licences to June 30 last, bringing the total for the province to 585,032.

Election Within Year And We'll Win—Brown

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Brown, deputy leader of the British Labor Party, says there will be an election in England within a year and that his party will win it.

Here on a visit, Mr. Brown told a press conference Thursday he believes the Profumo affair will have little effect on the voting.

No Arm-Twisting in Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said Thursday the Joint Chiefs of Staff held long, hard discussions before deciding unanimously to support "in the final form" the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

They came to that conclusion without "pressure" or "arm-twisting" from their Pentagon superiors, Taylor, chairman of the top military command, declared in reply to senators' questions.

He said the joint chiefs were consulted in advance of negotiations leading to the treaty and had full access to all communications between Moscow and Washington during the negotiations in Russia.

"We had an opportunity at any time to intervene," the general said.

Taylor testified in public before a Senate foreign relations committee hearing attended by members of the armed services and atomic energy committees.

He had told the Senate preparedness subcommittee Wednesday that the military chiefs feel the advantages of the pact to ban all except underground nuclear tests outweigh the disadvantages.

Champion Goes One Up

Defending-champion Bill Blakely gets his turn to be congratulated yesterday when he eliminated Tom Green (left) in semifinals of Seniors' Northwest Golf Association championship. Blakely beat Green in the 1959 final but Green got his revenge in 1961 final so yesterday's set-to was in nature of rubber match.—(Bill Boucher)

For the second straight year it will be Bill Blakely of Portland and Pete McIntyre of Victoria in the final of the Northwest Seniors Golf Association tournament.

McIntyre, the 1955 winner when playing out of Trail, had a tougher time yesterday, edging co-medalist Jack Richardson of Vancouver, one up. Final will be played over 18 holes today starting at 10 a.m. Complete draw:

ON THE FAIRWAY with MAX FAULKNER

It seems that a bitter, tight-lipped battle has broken out behind the scenes of British professional golf.

John Fallon, one of the most respected if not one of the biggest prize-money winners of recent years, is named as non-playing captain of the British Ryder Cup team to invade the United States in October.

Within a matter of hours Dai Rees, Britain's captain for the past four Ryder Cups in a row, is quoted as saying: "I've never agreed with non-playing captains anyhow."

I can understand Dai's disappointment. Indeed, to be absolutely honest, I share it in many ways since my own name had been put forward as a possible candidate for the job.

But for Dai to declare dogmatically that non-playing captains are useless figureheads is nonsense.

The new format of the Ryder Cup—shorter matches but more of them—makes it more imperative than ever for the captain to be completely free of playing problems of his own to be able to dictate tactics.

Dai Rees should have known this better than anyone. In a recent Ryder Cup he was still out on the course completing his morning round when the organizers came out from the clubhouse in a panic demanding to know what his team's order of play was for the afternoon.

Dai was therefore left to struggle with the conundrums of cunning pairings while in the process of trying to save his own match.

Obviously for the weaker nation, which Britain generally is, a non-playing captain MUST be the answer. America don't have one for the simple reason that they can field a dozen golfers of almost equal strength. In fact, they don't really need a captain at all.

But at least they have worked out a sensible solution. They appoint a captain for one Ryder Cup only—hence this time Arnold Palmer takes over from Jerry Barber who took over from Sam Snead—and so spread the honor around.

Since the Ryder Cup is played only once every two years, there's little virtue attached to maintaining continuity. And, this way, it keeps the boys happy.

In Britain, meanwhile, some of the boys are most certainly not too happy and this is something that should be sorted out before the team take off for Georgia.

For my part I believe Britain have found themselves a first-class captain. John Fallon is a quiet man by nature but he is shrewd, a good diplomat and will prove himself, I think, as a remarkably effective leader.

I wish both he and the British team the very best of luck and I hope to hear no more about carve-ups by committees or jobs for the boys.

Meanwhile, while Britain's Ryder Cup men go west, I have decided to go south for the first part of the winter—to the latest country to get in the golf promotion bandwagon.

Surprisingly, for the number of great players it has produced, South Africa has been slow to stage tournaments big enough to attract top competitors from all over the world.

This year, however, they have almost doubled their prize money. They are putting up £12,000 for six tournaments in the space of eight weeks.

And since Bobby Locke and Gary Player have been plundering sterling and dollars from under our noses for quite a few years I think it's only fair that we should pay them a visit in the hope of doing severe damage to their country's economy!

A bad start by Minnesota Twins is all that has kept the American League from having a real pennant race this season.

Twins were dead last as late as May 19, seven games behind the defending champions. Since then, they have held their own and have figures which would tend to show they are now the equal of the ever-winning Yankees.

HAVE INGREDIENTS

Power and pitching makes a tough baseball combination, and the Twins have both.

They lead their league in complete games with 43 and their staff earned-run average is just below that of Chicago White Sox. But the Pale Hose can't match Minnesota power.

It was there again last night as home runs by Don Mincher, Bob Allison and Jim Hall set up an easy 13-3 win over Baltimore Orioles.

Minnesota's wrecking crew leads both major leagues with 161 home runs. Harmon Killebrew has 28, Allison 26, Hall 20, Mincher 13, Rich Rollins 14 and Earl Battey 21.

Victory last night edged the Twins within half a game of second place, but the Yankees came right back from their twin drubbing of Wednesday to wallop Boston Red Sox, 10-2.

Outfielder Johnny Blanchard, a catcher filling in last night for Roger Maris, batted in six runs with two homers, one of them with the bags loaded.

Stan Williams, finally looking like the pitcher the Yankees expected when they got him from Los Angeles Dodgers, eased to his sixth win in 19 decisions but had his scoreless streak ended at 19 innings.

The Dodgers righted themselves yesterday by getting past Milwaukee Braves, 7-5, to hold their National League lead at three games.

SANDY FAILS AGAIN

Ace Sandy Koufax, running into some late-season troubles, was bombed out in a four-run first inning after getting a three-run lead. But great relief pitching by Ron Perranoski enabled the Dodgers to win it with two runs in the seventh inning.

San Francisco Giants, again led by the heroics of Willie Mays, stayed on the pace with a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati Reds. Mays hit a two-run single in the four-run fifth inning, then helped protect the edge with a spectacular, leaping catch of an eighth-inning bid for extra bases by Don Pavletiich.

Carnarvon Stars Win Again To Reach Pony League Final

Victoria's Carnarvon all-stars planted themselves firmly in the driver's seat last night in their bid for their second Pacific Northwest regional Pony League baseball title in three years.

Playing before a sellout crowd of 1,600 at Carnarvon Park, Carnarvons struck for six runs in the fifth inning and went on to beat Hawaii, 8-3, and emerge as the only undefeated team left in the double-loss elimination tournament.

Earlier, Seattle Nationals had squeaked past Richland, 5-4, to eliminate the eastern Washington representatives. Tonight at 6 p.m. it will be Seattle against Hawaii, and Carnarvons will have two chances tomorrow to capture the championship with a victory over tonight's winner.

If Carnarvon,s the 1961 winners, can win the opener tomorrow at 2, then the title is theirs. If they lose, the clubs would be tied and play the deciding game at 6 p.m.

Extra seating has been prepared for the remaining games.

HERE WE COME

Winner goes from here to National City, California, for the divisional tournament, and the winner there advances to the Pony League world series in Washington, Penn.

Carnarvons were an impressive-looking club in their win last night. While Brian Brossard was holding Hawaii to five hits, striking out 16, chunky Bob Lemon was continuing the lusty hitting that has sparked Carnarvons throughout their tournament play.

Lemon got two hits, drove in two runs and scored another for a two-game record of five hits, three RBIs and three runs.

COME FROM BEHIND

Both clubs scored once in the first inning, and Hawaii went ahead in the top of the fifth on a walk, a hit batter and a single by Gordon Fujimoto. But Carnarvons came back in their half of the inning for the outburst that put the game away.

Phil Pimlott led off and was safe on a throwing error. Singles by Brian Paul and Rory Walters, coupled with another error, brought in two runs. Hawaii retired the next two batters, but Ike MacKay was hit by a pitched ball and Lemon, Brian Craig and Brossard followed with successive singles for four more runs.

Carnarvons added another run in the sixth and Yonekawa hit a bases-empty homer for Hawaii in the seventh.

THRILLING WIN

The afternoon game was a real thriller as Seattle, trailing 4-2 in the bottom of the seventh, came on to win on three hits, an error, and the rarely-seen catcher's balk.

An infield single by Jerry Heliton, a double by Ed Steele and an outfield error scored one run, and when Seattle tried to squeeze Steele in from third, Richland catcher Bill Hickman stepped out of the catcher's box too soon, Steele scoring on the balk and the other runner going to third.

Sherwin Earl then slammed the next pitch for a game-ending single to left field.

Montreal	2	0	2	21	61	0

Last night's scores: Montreal 14 at Ottawa 31; Hamilton 3, Saskatchewan 5 (at Regina).

Next game: tonight—Toronto at Edmonton.

Ottawa Rough Riders stuck another pin in the Montreal Alouette balloon last night, and Hamilton Tiger-Cats were stopped by an Eastern Conference reject in Regina.

Hours after the Rough Riders had shelled the stumbling Alouettes, 31-14, in Ottawa, the lightly-regarded Saskatchewan Roughriders slugged it out in a defensive war with the Ti-Cats, and won, 5-3, on two fourth-quarter singles by ex-Alouette kicker Martin Fabi.

Results left the Canadian Football League more unsettled and unpredictable than it has been for several years at this stage of the season.

CONFUSING

Alouettes, supposedly the loaded club in the east, has been whipped, 30-7, by Hamilton and 31-14 by Ottawa, but Saskatchewan, rated a good bet to miss the Western Conference playoffs, has won two of its three starts while scoring only 31 points and giving up 35. Winnipeg's Grey Cup champs are winless in two starts, and Saskatchewan shares the western lead with Calgary and B.C. Lions.

In Regina, two brilliant defensive teams collided in wind, thunder and rain, each yielding only a field goal in the first 45 minutes. Don Sutherin put Ti-Cats ahead with a 36-yarder in the first quarter and veteran Reg Whitehouse tied it in the second.

60-YARDER

Fabi finally settled matters with his two punts late in the final period, aided by a 20-mile-per-hour wind. Hamilton's Joe Zuger, who managed only a 15-yard punt into the wind, gave Fabi his first chance with six minutes gone, and he boomed one 60 yards to put Riders ahead 4-3.

Tonight's game between Edmonton Eskimos and Toronto Argonauts will be televised live on Channel 8 starting at 8 p.m.

Final single came with three minutes to go after Zuger fumbled and Wayne Shaw recovered for Saskatchewan at the Hamilton 53. The 20-year-old Fabi then hoisted a kick 63 yards for the final point.

The defensive play was something to see. Saskatchewan intercepted four of Bernie Faloney's passes, halfback Dale West getting three of them, and the Ti-Cats grabbed two thrown by Ron Lancaster, an ex-Ottawa quarterback making his first start for Saskatchewan.

Statistically the clubs were about even, Saskatchewan getting 59 yards rushing and 127 passing, Hamilton running for 127 yards and passing for 46. But Hamilton fumbled three times and lost two.

In Ottawa, the game was only 66 seconds old when Russ Jackson completed a 54-yard pass to Whit Tucker, then lateralled to halfback Ernie White for a 29-yard touchdown play. And after an exchange of kicks they moved 77 yards in nine plays, Jackson finally scoring the touchdown on a six-yard keeper.

From then on they could do little wrong.

Dave Thelen ran 62 yards for a touchdown on a third-and-one play, Moe Racine kicked a field goal, and Jackson hit Tucker with a 73-yard pass-and-run play for a 31-10 lead at half-time, Racine converting all four touchdowns.

Montreal's touchdowns came in the final quarter, Sandy Stephens passing 21 yards to Don Clark and six yards to Mecco Poliziani.

Riders outrushed Jim Trimble's Alouettes, 222 yards to 48, and outpassed them, 241 yards to 205.

Sam to Return But with Whom?

OTTAWA (UPI) — Sam Etcheverry returns to Canada this week, and up until last night, it seemed reasonably certain that he might return to Canadian football with Ottawa Rough Riders.

Just what effect the fine quarterbacking of Canadian Russ Jackson in last night's Ottawa win over Montreal will have on what seemed like a pending deal isn't kown. But the Riders have been talking to The Rifle.

"I've spoken to Sam," said Ottawa general manager Red O'Quinn, who used to be one of Etcheverry's favored targets.

"He wants to see some friends in Montreal and elsewhere. Don't worry, he won't be out of action long. Some team will want him."

O'Quinn wouldn't say more than that Etcheverry would be too expensive for Riders if they had to trade for him and also pay his salary.

Montreal Alouettes own the Canadian rights to Etcheverry, and also seem the team most in need of his services.

Recruit Munroe For Power Play

Victoria Shamrocks go into their rematch with New Westminster tonight, at 8:30 hoping against hope that a young man named Bill Munroe can cure the sickest power play in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Munroe, Dave Collett and Glen Vickers have been called up from Junior Shamrocks to form the senior club's third line for this second game of the best-of-seven semi-finals. Munroe will also have the extra and highly-essential task of playing point man on an odd-man play that gives up more goals than it scores.

In Tuesday's opener, Shamrocks scored four goals on that power play, but also gave up four while they had the man advantage. Given a good power play, New Westminster might have had three or four fewer goals and Rocks three or four more, and that 15-7 drubbing would have looked more respectable.

At least, that's the way coach Don Ashbee is looking at things. "We need a big man out there who can shoot," he said last night. "Munroe's got the good shot, and he's point man on a very good junior power play."

Tonight is also awards night at Memorial Arena, with Shamrock players winning trophies as most-valuable player, most-inspirational player, and the player combining sportsmanship and ability.

Victoria and New Westminster's B.C. pee wee finalists play a preliminary game at 7, with all players to report at 6:30.

McLarens Complete Startling Reversal

McLarens, who struggled along in the basement almost from the start of the senior "B" men's softball season, completed a startling comeback last night, beating Sooke, 10-8, to advance to the Vancouver Island final at Port Alberni this weekend.

Ken Oliphant and Jeff Hett combined to hold Sooke to seven hits in a game that was called at the end of eight innings because of darkness.

Double-loss elimination tournament for Island title opens Saturday in Port Alberni.

Junior Shamrocks Reach B.C. Final

NEW WESTMINSTER (Special)—Victoria Junior Shamrocks, backed by the steady goalkeeping of Bobby Fisher, stormed into the Inter-City Junior Lacrosse League final here last night with a 15-9 victory over New Westminster Salmonbellies.

Victory gave the young Rocks a sweep in their best-of-three semi-final, and put them into a best-of-five B.C. final against South Vancouver Legion, which took 70 shots at goalie Norm Nestman to beat Vancouver Vindex, 15-3, last night.

Shamrocks, ahead 8-6, had one of their best-balanced attacks of the season going against the 'Bellies. Ranjit Dillon, Glen Vickers and Rod Kilduff each scored three goals, Bill Munroe had two goals and four assists, and Rod Nesbitt and Dave Collett each scored twice.

New Westminster got three goals from Wayne Bellward, two each from John Shmyr and Pat Hyde, and one from Ron Flaten and Bob McKean. But although they were always in contention until the late stages, Fisher stopped any potential comeback with a number of key saves.

Final starts here Sunday.

City Players Win Openers

Victorians taking part in the Canadian junior tennis championships at Ottawa came through first-round play yesterday.

Theodora Booker, seeded first in the 14-and-under girls, bested Carol Clute of Edmonton, 6-3, 6-0, and Margaret Maysmith, playing in the 16-and-under group, won by default.

Don McCormick, seeded second in the under-18 group, trimmed Pierre Dubois of Montreal, 6-1, 6-0, and Frank Flanagan of Frederickton, 6-0, 6-1.

No Gilded Cage For This Bird

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Chief of Police Harold Smith is conducting a high-priority investigation within his department.

Smith said if he is successful in finding out who has been making bird calls over the department's public address system, "They'll get 30 days without pay to practise."

Flare Causes False Alarm

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A faulty flare tossed into the Niagara River Tuesday was blamed for a report that a boat had crashed over the Horseshoe Falls.

After a night-long vigil on the river bank below the falls, police Wednesday were notified that a flare had been thrown into the water above the falls.

Ticehurst B.C. Color-Bearer After Eliminating Wakeham

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — British Columbia hopes for a Canadian amateur golf title rest today with medalist Bert Ticehurst of Vancouver.

Playing some of the best golf of his career, Ticehurst reached the quarter-finals in two rounds yesterday with successive easy victories over Bill Bishop of Saint John and Willingdon Cup-teammate Bill Wakeham of Victoria.

Ticehurst eliminated Bishop, 5 and 4, then took out Wakeham, 5 and 3, in a round in which he shot five birdies and was never over par on the 15 holes needed for a decision.

Wakeham had reached the 16s with a 3 and 2 win over Tom Sisolak of Waukegan, Ill. Joining Ticehurst in the eights were Keith Alexander of Calgary, Gordon Leriche of Montreal, Bob Jamieson of Peterborough, Nick Weslock of Toronto, Bob Stimpson of Ottawa, Tom Draper of Royal Oak, Mich., and Joe Ferguson of Calgary. They meet in the quarter-finals today in the order named.

Jamieson, Ontario junior champion for the past two years, and Leriche, another youngster, came through with two fine victories.

Bowing to Jamieson in yesterday's first round was Walter Stahl of Cleveland, who went down, 3 and 1. Then the Ontario youngster took out H. M. Haverstick of Lancaster, Pa., one of the top-rated American threats, 1 up.

BIG UPSET

Leriche started with a 3 and 2 win over Harry Critchley of Winnipeg and then followed with one of the big upsets in eliminating Doug Silverberg of Calgary, 1 up.

Leriche had a three-up lead after 14 holes, winning the 10th with a par and the 12th and 13th with birdies. Silverberg rallied with birdie wins on the 15th and 16th but Leriche halved out.

Weslock advanced in what was the feature match of the day, eliminating Gary Cowan, 1961 champion, for the second year in a row, this time by a whopping 4 and 3.

VETERAN SIZZLES

Champion in 1957, the veteran Weslock shot precision golf that Cowan couldn't match and was credited with a four-under-par for the 15 holes played.

Alexander, 1960 champion, defeated Ed Ross of Saskatoon, 3 and 2, and Charles Brace of Halifax by the same score.

Stimpson took out Bob MacFarlane of Edmundston and hockey-player Nick Mickoski of Winnipeg and Ferguson eliminated Andrew Gard of Wayland, Mass., and Bud Kennedy of Saint John.

Draper, loser to South Africa's Reg Taylor in last year's final and a prime favorite this time, beat Bill Pidlaski of Winnipeg and Gordon Leslie of Saint John, struggling to 1-up victories each time.

Two rounds today will produce the finalists for Saturday's 36-hole decider.

Butts Given 'Bad' Rating By University Officials

ATLANTA (UPI) — Two members of the University of Georgia's athletic board testified that the general character of Wally Butts is "bad" and that they would not believe him under oath as Butts' $10,000,000 libel suit against Curtis Publishing Company moved near decision.

Testimony was completed yesterday in the suit, brought when the Saturday Evening Post charged that the former Georgia coach had helped rig a football game by disclosing information to Alabama coach Bear Bryant before last year's Alabama-Georgia game.

Dr. Hugh Mills of Athens, an associate professor of education and a member of the university athletic board, was asked if the "general character of Wallace Butts is good or bad."

"I would now have to say bad," Mills replied. The same answer to an identical question was given by J. D. Bolton, comptroller and treasurer of the university and treasurer of the athletic association.

Testimony of Mills and Bolton followed that of university president O. C. Alderhold, who said that Butts' reputation was "bad."

Testimony of Frank Scobey, a Chicago beer distributor, which was taken last month in Chicago, was read to the jury yesterday.

Scobey said he bet heavily on football games six years ago but never received any information from Butts. He said Butts was a close personal friend but, as far as he knew, had no knowledge of his football gambling.

Butts returned to the stand as the final witness to complete testimony. Closing arguments by lawyers were set for today and Monday.

Promising Weekend Report for Anglers

Salt-water anglers should find good fishing this weekend in practically any waters they may choose from Sooke to Campbell River.

A new run of pinks is reported in the Jordan River-Sheringham Point area. They are about six pounds and a few springs and coho are also being picked up. Fishing off Pedder and Becher Bays is also said to be good with some large coho and springs being taken.

Fishing in these areas has been best in the early morning on the incoming tide and deep fishing, with up to one pound of weight, giving best results.

Oak Bay waters have been yielding big springs at The Gap and coho and humps off Trial and Discovery Islands.

PICKING UP

Fishing in the Brentwood area has picked up, particularly in the Tod Inlet-Willis Point stretch. At the Goldstream end, the Misery Bay-Chesterfield Rock area has been productive.

Cowichan Bay has also shown improvement, particularly for coho. Ed Mould and partners picked up 10 in short order on Wednesday evening.

Good-sized springs and coho are being taken off Northwest Bay. Fishing in the Comox area has dropped off a bit but plenty of salmon are showing. Winds have kept fishing down at Deep Bay evening fishing has been good for coho.

Off Qualicum Beach, fishing is reported as excellent and bleached-pink or purple bucktail flys have been luring coho.

At Campbell River, schools of coho are showing up to 10 pounds with green-and-white or blue-and-white bucktails, fished slow, appearing to be the best lure.

Tyee fishing is ranging from fair to good in the popular spots. The king-sized springs are showing in good numbers off Campbell River, fishing in Comox Bay is reported as fair and it has been good in the Alberni Canal.

Thirty-five tyee were weighed in Sunday at the Port Boathouse. They are reported to be in the best shape ever and are going up the ladder earlier than for years. At Nahmint, five boats on Tuesday produced 10 tyees, the largest 51 pounds.

Pike to Coach Blades

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alf Pike, former coach of New York Rangers in the National Hockey League, was named coach of Los Angeles Blades Thursday.

Pike succeeds Jack Bownass, who acted as player-coach last year. Bownass will return as a player.

Pike, a native of Winnipeg, managed the now-inactive Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League for the last two seasons.

The 45-year-old coach played with the Rangers from 1939 until 1947.

Rose Street Extension

Crews on Final Link

City works crews are scheduled to begin laying new curbs at two intersections on the final section of Rose Street extension next Monday.

Work will begin at Queens and Blanshard and Bay and Rose.

DEMOLITION STARTS

Demolition of one building purchased by the city from a construction company has already started and tenders for tearing down a small house on Blanshard at Queens will be opened by city council this afternoon.

Demolition is expected to be completed by the end of next week and bulldozers will begin to level the right-of-way starting about Aug. 26.

TWO SIGNALS

Traffic signals will be installed at both the Rose and Hillside and Rose and Bay intersections.

Council will also decide today whether to endorse a recommendation from the traffic committee to create one-way traffic northbound on Blanshard between Queens and Hillside and southbound on Rose for the same distance.

The extension of Rose Street, creating a new second main entrance to the city from the Mayfair shopping centre, is due for completion Oct. 15.

Submarine Squeal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A high-pitched atomic squeal is about to be added as a navigation beacon to the din of the ocean depths.

The Atomic Energy Commission said Thursday the underwater atomic sound beacon is being developed to help ships and small craft get their bearings and to warn vessels of reefs, sandbars, and other hazards.

Board Probing Bridge Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Civil Service Commission is studying the death of a painter who fell from the Lions Gate bridge last Friday, says Highways Minister Gaglardi.

Mr. Gaglardi said he called at the home of Mrs. Edward Glaser to tell her about the inquiry. He said she would be able to draw $195 a month for herself and three children under the workmen's compensation act, in addition to a lump sum of $500.

Anti-VD Course Urged for Schools

By HARRY NELSON
The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES—Los Angeles city schools are working on a pilot program of communicable disease education which will include intensive instruction about venereal diseases.

The course will not involve sex education but will be concerned mainly with health and biology, according to John Lugar, a U.S. Public Health Service representative working with the city health department.

He was a participant in a discussion on venereal diseases Thursday at the 68th meeting of the National Medical Association.

Joseph Langdon, supervisor of health education for the secondary schools, said a pilot program will be begun at four high schools next month and extended to all high schools in September, 1964.

Earlier in the session Dr. Bernard Rosenblum, medical officer in charge of the Mexican border area, told the session that an education program directed at young people is needed to stamp out venereal disease.

He pointed out that a large proportion of the 100,000 new cases of syphilis and 1,000,000 new cases of gonorrhea annually are among teen-agers.

Dr. Wilder R. Porter of Dover, Del., said that education should not be delayed until high school. He mentioned epidemics of gonorrhea in the first and second grades in his state.

Even though venereal disease instruction should be given in the home, it rarely is, so the schools are the logical place, Lugar said.

Thief-Proof Safe Defies Its Owner

NANAIMO — Thieves would be well advised to stay away from Bill Ostles' service station on Victoria Crescent because Thursday the owner couldn't even crack his own safe.

Ostles needed some cash from his combination safe. However, something clicked inside and the safe would not open.

He had to send for a locksmith and by mid-afternoon the specialist also had given up. Finally he sent for a cutting torch to burn through the 1½ inches of steel.

Centennial Square

Barricades Up Soon

By IAN STREET

Signs of increased activity on the four-acre site of Victoria's $2,000,000 Centennial Square project will soon be in evidence.

The committee in charge of overall planning yesterday awarded contracts for demolition of two more buildings at a total cost of $4,866.

As soon as the work gets under way, within two weeks, the committee has authorized erection of barricades that will close Cormorant between Douglas and Government to all through traffic.

Officials said yesterday it's unlikely Cormorant in this block, which is to become part of the square itself, will be reopened to traffic.

Access to the civic parking lot on the site of the old market building will be via Broad Street during the demolition. Later this block of Broad will also be closed.

The action of the committee yesterday in allocating work of tearing down of remaining building in the 600-block Cormorant and the large structure at 1501 Government will virtually clear the area on the south of the project.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of Centennial Square committee, said last night all phases of the program are proceeding on schedule.

Preparation of working drawings for the complete renovation of existing municipal offices and construction of a new city hall at the rear of the present building should be completed in time for a mid-October tender call, he said.

At the end of September all city hall operations will be moved to the old courthouse on Bastion Square where temporary quarters will be established for some 10 months.

Three buildings have already been demolished on the square site and another is being torn down. City crews will be at work in the next few days removing cluster lamp standards from the blocks that are to be closed.

Realignment of Pandora to link up with Cormorant west of Government is expected to begin in November.

Landscaping will get an early start on the site of the square when the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Ralph Perring, plants tree during his visit to Victoria at the end of this month.

Greater Victoria Officials Split Over Lotteries Plan

Civic officials in Greater Victoria disagreed yesterday about the value of permissive legislation to establish federal or provincial lotteries.

A bitter debate on the subject is expected when two resolutions from Kamloops and Langley, in favor of lotteries, are dealt with by the Union of B.C. Municipalities in Dawson Creek, Sept. 11-13.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell of Victoria said "no doubt it is human to gamble but I don't think that any governmental bodies should directly encourage it."

Reeve Stanley Murphy of Saanich said "I would be against provincial lotteries because it would create an untenable situation unless all provinces did it, in which case it might just as well be a federal thing."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said he would not oppose any steps toward a sweepstakes duplicating the famous Irish sweepstakes "if it was properly controlled."

Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said that while he personally is against the resolutions, a compromise might be reached on the issue by following a technique used by the British government in bond sales.

Under the British system, government bonds do not pay interest. But the government sets aside an amount equivalent to accrued interest and holds a draw of bond numbers every few months, distributing the fund as prizes, he said.

Saanich Home Looted

A Saanich home was looted of nearly $2,000 worth of goods over a 21-month period while its owner was in Ireland, it was learned Thursday.

Saanich police are investigating a report of missing china, crystal, household items and tools from the home of A. H. Murphy, 5225 Patricia Bay Highway.

The thefts took place between Sept. 1, 1961 and July 1, 1963. Whereabouts of the tenant who occupied the house during the Murphy family's absence are not known.

Cow Awarded Certificate

A Saanich Jersey cow has been awarded a Ton of Gold certificate by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club for producing more than 2,000 pounds of fat in four consecutive years.

The cow, Dogwood Heritage Marie, owned by Patrick B. Hoole and sons, 5846 Oldfield Road, produced 2,255 pounds of fat in 1,439 days.

Mysterious Balloon Vanishes

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A balloon which drifted over the northern coast of Alaska presumably disintegrated in the atmosphere or descended to earth in the Canadian Arctic, a North American Air Defence Command spokesman said Thursday.

The spokesman said the balloon disappeared from radar tracking scopes after drifting across the distant early warning line Sunday and Monday. He said the sighting was not considered important enough to announce at the time.

Arbiter Still Stymied

The deadlock in the B.C. coast-wide fisheries labor dispute continues.

A government-appointed arbiter, Mr. Justice V. L. Dryer, remains unable to get down to business because the union and the operators cannot agree what he should arbitrate.

The companies, represented by the B.C. Fisheries Association, maintain only the price of pink salmon need be arbitrated.

NO SIGN

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) has given no sign of abandoning its position that many things remain at issue and, failing other agreement, Mr. Justice Dryer himself should decide what to arbitrate.

The association this week told the union it refuses to sign a paper which the union has produced and signed, authorizing Mr. Justice Dryer to decide the terms of reference himself.

One-Way Traffic

Action Starting Monday On Rose Street Link

By IAN STREET

City council yesterday cleared the decks for an immediate start on construction of the final section of Rose Street extension by approving a limited one-way traffic plan.

Blanshard between Queens and Hillside will carry one-way northbound traffic; southbound traffic between Hillside and Queens will travel on Rose Street.

Traffic chairman Ald. Millard Mooney said there would be "lots of action" on the site of the final road link starting Monday. Trees have already been removed from the right-of-way, he said, and "this new traffic artery will be open very soon."

$350 CONTRACT

Council yesterday also awarded Farmer Construction a $350 contract for demolition of the house at 2306 Blanshard which straddles the right-of-way for the new road.

The city has "no intention" of forcing Max Lohbrunner to vacate the spot near the garbage wharf where he has moored the old whaling ship on which he makes his home, Ald. Austin Curtis told council.

LEGALLY LIABLE

Formal notification that Mr. Lohbrunner doesn't have permission of the city to occupy the berth, he added, is "just protection for ourselves so that if something happens we won't be legally liable."

Ald. Mooney failed in his bid to convince council that it would be better to rent a six-room house on the Mountain View home property than sell it at this time for the highest offer of $1,270. The buyer, John E. Main, 352 Lagoon Road, must move the house at his own expense to another location. The property will be sold for apartments.

VALUE LAND

Council appointed L. E. Pope as city member of a three-man independent commission that is being set up to value Victoria's land holdings at Elk-Beaver Lake for park and recreational use.

It was unanimously agreed at a joint meeting of Victoria and Saanich councils, held Aug. 5, to use this means of putting a price on the 700-acre property which Saanich has offered to buy and maintain as parkland. The two nominees will appoint a chairman.

SINGLE PARCEL

It was agreed by council that 18 city-owned 45-foot lots at Quadra and Topaz should be consolidated into a single land parcel. The property is zoned for garden apartment use. Ald. A. W. Toone won support for his contention, however, that a buyer would have to buy only part of the parcel, provided he met zoning requirements.

Stomachs Pumped

Six children suffering from poisoning had to have their stomachs pumped at Royal Jubilee Hospital Thursday after they had eaten laurel berries.

The rash of poisonings was believed to be the result of ripening berries which look good to young children but produce severe stomach cramps.

$400,000 Needed And 'No Nonsense'

This year's United Appeal drive for $400,000—intended to meet operating expenses of 24 agencies—will be a "no-nonsense" campaign, John Wallace announced yesterday.

"We did a great deal of soul-searching before we set the goal of United Appeal at $400,000," Mr. Wallace, campaign manager, told a press conference in Spencerhouse.

He outlined two basic points:

- The 24 agencies must have the money;
- Victoria is "badly out of line" with other cities in Canada—Victorians last year gave $2.43 per capita, other cities more than $3 a head.

"This is the major appeal of the city," said United Appeal chairman Dr. Peter Banks. "It means we're asking people to put their hands in their pockets for 24 agencies."

How will the campaign operate?

"Last year we didn't meet our full goal," said Mr. Wallace, adding that $350,446 had been raised in 1962.

"We are better organized, and we'll have to get out and push for $400,000," he said.

It was pointed out the $400,000 goal represents the "absolute minimum" in operating capital for the 24 agencies.

Dr. Banks said United Appeal officials here are watching amalgamation talks between United Appeal and Red Cross in Vancouver.

"A truly United Appeal is best and most efficient," he added. "Over the last eight years the agencies came into United Appeal one by one."

Reasons for the increase to $400,000 goal:

- The greater Victoria Association for the Retarded has been admitted as the 24th agency—four per cent of the total increase of 14 per cent of the $400,000 goal.
- Greater Victoria is a rapidly growing community—five per cent of the increase.
- Past campaign failures mean agencies had to work on insufficient funds, plus rising costs—five per cent.

What does $400,000 mean to every citizen?

It means a contribution of $2.77 per capita.

United Appeal campaign will start Sept. 26.

Young Musicians

Kelp-Laden

They'll Recall Sea

There'll be some evil-smelling pockets, handbags and suitcases all over Canada in a few days as members of the National Youth Orchestra disband and return to their homes.

The 92 members of the orchestra spent almost three hours at HMCS Naden yesterday, including an hour's trip around Esquimalt harbor in a 75-foot harbor craft.

Many of them saw kelp for the first time floating in the harbor so the ship's master, David Hill, stopped and fished out a 15-foot piece of the weed.

And many of the young players took souvenirs of the rope-like weed, carefully putting them in pockets and handbags.

After touring the shore establishment and the fleet maintenance vessel HMCS Cape Breton, the group visited Government House, where they were welcomed by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Conductor Walter Susskind and Mrs. Susskind were not able to attend—Mr. Susskind left Victoria early yesterday morning for Aspen, Colorado, and Mrs. Susskind is travelling to California, where her husband will join her later.

Surprise ceremony at Government House yesterday was presentation by girls in National Youth Orchestra to their counsellor, Mrs. Marta Armin of Windsor, Ont., here expressing thanks. "Den mother" for orchestra, Mrs. Armin has three children playing, including Otto Armin, concertmaster. Her husband, Jay, is orchestra administrator.—(Ted Shackleford)

Acquittal In Entry Charge

Errol Tucker, formerly of 722 Lily, was acquitted in county court yesterday on a charge of being unlawfully in a dwelling house with intent to commit an indictable offence.

He was charged in connection with an incident in the home of David Eric Sands, 3101 Yew Street, early June 14.

Judge S. J. Remnant ruled there was reasonable doubt in the accused's intention to commit an indictable offence.

Tucker was defended by Alan Bigelow. Crown counsel was R. Dutton Walker.

Back Pay Boosts Victoria

Thousands of extra dollars were pumped into the Victoria area economy this month when many federal civil servants in the area tore open cheques for retroactive pay from Oct. 1, 1962.

Victoria area recipients of the latest federal civil service pay increase included an estimated 350 defence department employees, mainly at HMC Dockyard and the Colwood naval stores, some 240 postal workers, some 100 department of transport employees and about 40 customs employees.

Luxton Fall Fair Offers $600 More

Organizers of the Luxton Fall Fair are offering about $600 more in cash prizes this year and are expecting to have a bigger fair than ever before.

The two-day country fair will be held at the Luxton fair grounds on Aug. 23 and 24. There will be a larger midway than last year and more room for the various show rings.

Stan Hiscock, president of the fair's board of management, said yesterday "the increased prize money is concentrated on the cattle section to encourage purebred breeders to show their stock."

The total prize list could amount to $2,500 this year, not counting money spent on such necessities as ribbons, trophies, miniature trophies and engraving, he said.

The Luxton Fair Queen, to be named on Aug. 23, will reign over the fair and will represent the Luxton area in various festivities held between then and next year's fair.

Three 4-H girls from whom the queen and two princesses are to be selected are Margaret Williams and Peggy and Donna Chidlow. They were chosen for their winning essays on what 4-H club activities mean to the community.

Hospital On Move

The admitting office, information office and cashier's desk of Royal Jubilee Hospital will be moved into the new wing today, a hospital spokesman said yesterday.

Patients who are to be moved from the main building into the new wing will be transferred on Tuesday, he said.

Youbou Member RCAF Team

'Flier' at Age Five Hawk Back to Nest

By DON GAIN

A Youbou boy who loved planes so much he chomped his sandwiches into the shape of aircraft 26 years ago will visit Victoria today—flying as a member of the RCAF's famous Golden Hawks.

Bill Grip, now 31, will fly second solo position with the aerobatic boys when the Sabre jets come up like thunder over Beacon Hill and 'cross the bay.

"I can remember him when he was about five years old," his mother said last night. "When he ate sandwiches he made them look like airplanes. Then he'd play with them."

Bill was born in Port Alberni and moved to Youbou with his parents, Lars and Hildur Grip, who still live there. His father is a boom man with B.C. Forest Products.

Bill attended school in Camp 6, Youbou, and then went as far as Grade 13 at Lake Cowichan High School. He joined the RCAF as soon as he graduated in 1951.

He earned his wings and his commission the next year and served with Canada's NATO Air Division flying F-86 Sabres with 427 (Fighter) Squadron, 3 Fighter Wing, Zweibrucken, Germany from 1953 to 1957.

While overseas he met and married Florence McLeod of Kamloops, who was also serving with the RCAF, and took his bride to Sweden to meet his relatives.

Before returning to Canada the Grips had two children, have had two more since coming back.

Back in Canada, Bill spent four years in Vancouver on recruiting, went to Moose Jaw, Sask., as a flying instructor in 1961.

Now a flight-lieutenant, he joined the Golden Hawks late last year. The Grips live in Trenton, Ont.

Bill has a sister in Victoria, Mrs. Louise Bailey, 646 Admirals, and one in Youbou, Mrs. Lucille Whittingham.

Burned Boy's Family Offered Aid, Sympathy

More financial help was offered yesterday for the Campbell River family whose nine-year-old boy was severely burned in a gasoline explosion.

Keith Barker of Campbell River and playmate Jimmy Morgan, 8, were burned March 2 when gasoline was thrown onto a fire. Keith is in St. Joseph's Hospital here, undergoing extensive skin grafts.

The B.C. Federation of Labor has set up a fund to help the family, which has been having a hard time meeting expenses since the accident.

Pat O'Neal, of Vancouver, federation secretary-treasurer, said a letter is being sent to affiliated unions asking for donations. The federation started the fund off yesterday with a $50 donation.

Meanwhile, Mrs. J. S. Black, 2657 Mt. Stephen Ave., suggested that persons wishing to help the family could "mail anything from a dime to a dollar" to Mr. William Harold Barker, Campbell River.

Douglas Hotel manager Ken King offered to put the family up at the hotel this weekend when they come down to visit Keith in hospital.

Also, the Noon Optimist Club of Victoria yesterday offered to give the family a key to the caretaker's suite in the Optimist home (the old Seamen's Institute) on Superior Street.

"We could use some paint and furniture, but we are willing to fix up the suite and make it available for the Barker family to use as often as they like," said Const. Thomas Smith, who is taking care of the Optimist's arrangements for the family.

Anyone wishing to donate paint or furniture for the suite was asked to contact Mr. Smith at his home 1328 Clover, telephone EV 4-7090.

Couple Wed At St. Mary's

White gladiolus and yellow chrysanthemums decorated St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, for the wedding of Miss Joanne Lynn Barton and Mr. Gerald Lawrence Gyselinck. Rev. H. Jones officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. William Trace, was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. William Trace. She wore a short wedding dress of white nylon over taffeta styled with sweetheart neckline and lily-point sleeves. The skirt was accented with sequin sweetheart bows from the contoured waist to hemline. A coronet of seed pearls held her finger-tip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Misses Joanne Pistell and Marcia Bates, bridesmaids, wore dresses and jackets of ice blue crystal charm taffeta and pill box hats with veiling. Their bouquets were of white chrysanthemums and ivy.

Little Peggy Curran, flower girl, was in a deep pink crystal charm taffeta dress and carried a colonial bouquet of small, white chrysanthemums.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Gyselinck of Leoville, Sask., had his brother, Mr. Lorne Gyselinck of Leoville, as best man. Mr. Frank Chappell and Mr. Dave Trace acted as ushers.

A reception was held at the old England Inn where the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake flanked by white candles. Mr. Stanley Hoffman proposed the toast to his niece.

Leaving on a motor trip to visit the groom's parents in Leoville the bride changed to a pale green moygashel linen two-piece ensemble with accessories to tone and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. and Mrs. Gyselinck will live in Victoria.

Miss A. M. Tolputt, the groom's aunt, came from Vancouver for the wedding.

FOR FLAVOR

The wedding will take place Aug. 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the Metropolitan United Church, with Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James officiating.

Insists Women Safer Drivers

DETROIT (AP)—Attractive Joan Simmons never won a race during her eight years of auto racing, but she wound up as the boss of some 200 drivers.

The Michigan-born housewife is believed to be the only woman general manager of a race track. She has been "head man" of the Flat Rock, Mich., Speedway Corporation since 1962.

Joan, who scraped fenders with both men and women racers during her 100 racing starts, says her auto racing career gave her some definite ideas on traffic safety on the highways.

She is convinced women make safer drivers, since men tend to become distracted too easily.

"When a woman is driving in the daytime, she is generally either going shopping or taking her children somewhere and she concentrates on the road and the problems ahead.

"Men, on the other hand, tend to bring the problems of their office and work home with them and many times they start thinking of those problems, with the result that they do not pay 100 per cent attention to the road and that makes the men more accident prone. Also, many men coming home from work are tired, and their driving reflects it."

MEN BETTER RACERS

As far as race track competition is concerned, Mrs. Simmons said she would much rather compete against male drivers.

"When women get on a race track, they do not like to be passed and that makes for more difficult driving. Men will yield the right-of-way more easily during a race as they figure they can make up the time later and pass you."

The 33-year-old Mrs. Simmons organized the Michigan powder puff auto derby in 1951 and finished third against the field of female drivers. Her racing career included meets in Michigan, Ohio, and Ontario.

Her interest in racing developed in 1951 when she married Dick Simmons, still one of the top drivers on the Michigan-Ontario stock circuit.

Capt. and Mrs. F. J. Pattison, 633 Kelly Road, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, (Betty) Mary Elizabeth Ann Pattison, to Mr. Donald Robert McKinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McKinnon of Deville, Alta. The wedding will take place Aug. 31, at 7 p.m. in St. Saviour's Church. Rev. R. N. Mugford will officiate.

Shower Held In Gardens

Lovely garden of the Blue Heron Road home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Trerise, Sidney, was the setting for a shower honoring Miss Sigrid Vennberg and Mr. Glenn Hundleby. Mrs. Trerise and Mrs. R. Thomas were co-hostesses.

Corsage of pink roses was presented to the bride-elect while her mother, Mrs. O. C. Vennberg, received yellow gladiolus. Mrs. Roy Hundleby, groom-elect's mother, received a burnt orange gladiolus corsage.

A smorgasbord supper was served by the hostesses, assisted by Misses Sharon Emery, Diane Fitzsimmons and Pat Hundleby.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Vennberg, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hundleby, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Fitzsimmons, Mr. and Mrs. Don Emery, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Good Food Catches French Men

By NORA MARTIN

PARIS (TNS) — A French woman counts more on a lovingly cooked dish than on a new dress to catch her man and keep him.

I have often heard these words of wisdom, said to be the key to a happy marriage a la Francaise. The other day I had it confirmed by a French woman who is an expert on all that concerns French females.

Madame Helene Gordon-Lazareff is the editor of "Elle," the weekly magazine with the greatest impact on French women.

"French women are still more interested in their men than even in fashions," she told me. "A French woman believes that her husband will be happier eating a good meal she cooked than looking at a new dress she bought. Even young women today still follow the old French tradition that it is a wife's duty to keep her husband happy.

"A French woman will always remain "Number Two" in the family, even should she earn more money, have a stronger personality and be more successful than her husband. 'The couple'," Madame Lazareff stressed, "is more important than the individual. And that is true in France all the way up on the social ladder."

•Gail Delores Hocevar became the bride of Mr. Terrance Lee Barney at a pretty summer wedding recently in the United Church, Chemainus. Rev. Bernard Knipe of Duncan officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hocevar, Ladysmith, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Barney, Ladysmith. The new Mrs. Barney is a 1960 graduate of St. Joseph's School of Nursing. Mr. and Mrs. Barney are now living in Saltaire following a honeymoon to Calgary.—(Ron's Studio, Duncan).

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married four years. We have a two-year-old son. The problem is tantrums—not the boy's, but his father's.

If Woodrow can't find what he is looking for he pulls everything out o fthe drawer and leaves it on the floor. Several months ago he broke his toe kicking the furniture. This spring he sprained his wrist punching a dent in the car because it was out of gas.

Last week when Woodrow got hold of a shirt with a loose button he tore the collar off and left the shirt in the refrigerator so I wouldn't miss it.

Woodrow left for work this morning without speaking because I washed a theatre ticket stub in his shirt pocket. I don't know how to deal with his temper. Can you suggest something?—MOLLY.

Dear Molly: Deal with him as you would any child who has tantrums. Take all sharp objects out of hands and ignore him.

Woodrow needs professional help but if you suggested it he'd probably have another tantrum.

Dear Ann Landers: I read where the woman from Atlanta who was named "Secretary of the Year," said a good secretary limits her personal calls to necessities and emergencies. She put it this way: "Remember, when you are in the office your time belongs to your employer."

I've been working here for three months. I, too, believe a secretary's time belongs to her employer, but what can I do when an older woman wastes at least two hours of my day?

She babbles incessantly, gossiping and airing her family troubles, reporting in details doings of her bridge club, going on and on until I could scream. I don't want to tattle to the office manager yet this bore reduces my productivity about 25%. What can I do — FRUSS-TRAYTED.

Dear Fruss: Have a ready phrase and rehearse it aloud so you can say it easily. Here's a sample: "Please save it for later. I'm terribly behind right now." Then continue to work.

If you repeat this five or six times (using precisely the same words) she'll get the picture and leave you alone.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how to maintain a healthy balance between the possessiveness of my husband's family and the indifferent attitude of my own parents.

The possessive in-laws live out of the state. They are hurt if we don't send our children to them for one month every summer. They send the kids gifts galore and phone long distance every week just to talk to them. Frankly they overdo it.

My parents are just the opposite. They live nearby, but we don't see much of them. They have never offered to sit with the kids or even taken them out for an ice cream cone.

I want our children to like both sets of grandparents the same. We hate for them to be "bought" on the one hand and ignored on the other. What do you suggest?—DOUBLE O.

Dear O: You are not going to change either set of grandparents so don't try.

And you can forget about getting the children to like both sets of grandparents "the same." All people react to the treatment they receive and coaching from the sidelines is a waste of breath.

Around the Shops

Repair Shops Do Wonders With Lighters and Straps

By JILL ARLETT

How many times have you thrown away articles because they were broken and you thought they couldn't be repaired?

Just recently I was getting ready to heave out an old cigarette lighter which looked like it had seen its last days when someone told me there was a store downtown which repairs lighters.

The same thing happened when I broke the strap of a leather handbag. This, too, can be fixed.

The first store, which repairs electric razors as well as cigarette lighters, is worth looking in as it has practically every kind of electric razor on the market.

One top-brand electric razor selling for $24.95 can be purchased on a trade-in and has a one-year repair guarantee, as do all other razors purchased here. Price range is from $12.95 to $32.95.

Cigarette lighters, apparently quite finicky things to repair as they require a variety of parts, can be fixed at this store for as little as 25 cents or as much as $1.50.

They also repair electric trains (carrying a large stock of train parts) and sharpen scissors.

The second store I visited is a shoe repair store but also has a sideline like the razor shop—mending purses that have come apart at the seams or have lost their straps.

Depending on the amount of wear and tear done to your handbag, repair costs are anywhere from 25 cents to $1.

New straps are made of strong leather and come in a rainbow of colors. As it doesn't take long to replace one, the shoemaker will do it while you wait.

Another repair job—this time for shoes—which can be done for you in a couple of minutes, is adding rubber to the tips of illusion or spike heels.

If you've noticed that your steel heels have been digging up linoleum floors, it's easy to get them changed to rubber. The steel spike simply pulls out of the heel and is replaced by the rubber one. Cost averages about a dollar according to the shoe.

If you feel dubious about throwing away those unrepairables, call EV 3-4111 for the names of these stores. They'll probably fix it.

Fish Dishes

Rice and Salmon-Stuffed Tomatoes are hearty yet refreshing summer salad fare. This recipe makes six. Cut six tomatoes, place stem end down, not quite through into six sections each. Combine 1⅓ cups cold cooked rice, 1 cup flaked canned salmon, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, ⅔ cup diced celery, ½ small onion, chopped, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ cup diced cucumber. Blend in ⅔ cup dairy sour cream and toss until mixed. Spread apart the tomato sections and lightly pile the salmon and rice mixture into each tomato "flower."

Broiled Halibut with Fruit Garnish is a fast cooking dinner dish that amply satisfies four hungry people. Preheat broiler and greased broiler pan. Place 1½ to 2 pounds halibut steaks on the preheated broiler pan; brush with 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine then sprinkle with 2 tablespoons lemon or lime juice. Sprinkle the steaks with salt, pepper and paprika. Broil about 2 inches from source of heat about five minutes or until lightly browned. Turn the steaks. Surround them with 2 bananas cut lengthwise in half and top the steaks with 8 orange slices. Brush the fish and fruit with another 2 tablespoons of melted butter and sprinkle with an additional 2 tablespoons of lemon or lime juice. Season again. Broil another 5 minutes or so, or until fish will just flake easily when tested with a fork.

Garden Notes

Lawns in Clover

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The last time we discussed lawn grasses, we kicked around the respective merits of the different kinds of grass seed, and I mentioned my own preference for a mixture of Kentucky Bluegrass (preferably the Park strain) and Creeping Red Fescue (preferably Penn State or Penn Lawn). One point I forgot to mention was clover.

This is a controversial subject, and I have seen good friends come close to blows while arguing whether or not clover has a place in the lawn. One of my neighbors regards it as a noxious weed, worse than crab grass, and spends most of his time crawling around his lawn on his hands and knees digging up clover seedlings. Other folks wouldn't dream of sowing a lawn without adding clover seed to the mixture.

Clover has its faults, it is true. It is slippery underfoot, and it stains the clothing worse than grass and the stains are harder to get out. But against this, clover enriches the soil and improves the health of the grass. Moreover, because of its deep roots, clover stays green in times of drought. The white flowers which ruin the appearance of the lawn for the clover-haters, I find rather attractive and fragrant, and it is most interesting to see how clover folds its leaves at nightfall, as if at prayer.

Whatever your preference in regard to clover, it is easy enough to meet. If you like clover, add one ounce of White Dutch clover seed to each pound of lawn grass mixture. If you hate the stuff, simply spray or water it as it appears with one of the clover-and-chickweed compounds such as Compitox or Killex.

Sowing grass seed evenly and at the correct rate is not an easy job, even with a mechanical spreader, and some spots always seem to get too much and some too little, making for an uneven stand. To overcome this, I like to mix my grass seed with sand before sowing, bulking it out so you can see how it lies on the ground. I dump a big pile of dry sand on the concrete floor of my garage and add the seed—roughly one bucketful of sand to each pound of seed—using a coal shovel to get the seed distributed evenly throughout the mixture.

If you wish to apply fertilizer—and this is always a good idea when putting down a new lawn—the easiest way is to mix it right in with the sand and seed. Vigoro Lawn Starter is very good for this purpose, as it is formulated to encourage good root action in the germinating grass rather than forcing premature leaf growth. I am not too keen on regular lawn fertilizers for a brand new lawn, and if your dealer doesn't have Lawn Starter, ask him for a formulation recommended for potatoes and other root vegetables—the big thing in a new lawn is to develop a husky root system first.

With a mixture of grass seed, fertilizer and a lot of sand, you can spread the stuff around thickly enough to see what you are doing without any danger of over-sowing, and it is no trick at all to do an even, uniform job. Just go ahead and scatter it nice and evenly, then roll it lightly.

Always, in the old days, we would rake the seed in before rolling, but modern research has shown this is all wrong. Most grass varieties, and particularly Bluegrass, doesn't germinate very well in darkness, and if raked in and covered many of the seeds fail to sprout. Grass needs sunshine plus moisture to stimulate it into growth, so the trick here is simply to scatter the seeds on the surface, roll it to press the seeds into firm contact with the soil, then maintain the seed bed in a constantly moist state by frequent misty waterings.

Keep in mind that a circular-pattern sprinkler doesn't get into the corners of a rectangular plot, and germination is often poor in these corners unless given supplementary waterings by hand.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Mary Martin Teen-Ager

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Mary Martin will be 18, 19 and 20 years old in Jenny. Which goes to prove that if you have the right approach, you can be anything.

The inmates of a mental home in Westport, Conn., were disappointed when they discovered it was Eva Gabor who was coming there in the play, A Shot in the Dark. "Oh," sighed a befuddled old lady, "we thought it was Zsa Zsa. Eva should feel complimented.

While pretty Samantha Eggar declined to come to Hollywood to make a picture with Elvis Presley, because, "Elvis' girls just stand around looking pretty, and no one ever hears of them again." You will be hearing of Miss Eggar, a natural redhead, with Pat Neal in Psyche 59.

Marlon Brando will be in the forefront of the march of the stars in Washington on Aug. 28. Flanking and following, to aid President Kennedy's Civil Rights Bill will be stars Paul Newman, Burt Lancaster, Tony Curtis, Charlton Heston and Gregory Peck who will fly in from Paris for the day. Marlon has completed his first comedy role in King of the Mountain. I hear he is good.

* * *

Tony Quinn has been writing his autobiography on and off for the past two years. And I have a good title for it—The Wounded Bull, but seriously, Tony's life has been fantastic and his story will make fascinating reading.

Jane Fonda spends a week in New York, then is off to Europe for her film with Alain Delon, The Love Cage. Talking of Delon, his fiancee Romy Schneider describes her first meeting with the French actor. "It was like a great door opening. Suddenly I was free." Well, she still is, in the wedding ring department.

Paddy Chayefsky has been toying with the idea, I hear, of making a TV series of Marty which was a TV show before the film won an Oscar for Ernie Borgnine.

Nancy Kwan has left her Austrian bridegroom in Austria to star for Seven Arts in The Wild One—in London, of course. Bette Davis didn't have to take dollars to Italy, London or any place in Europe. Her percentage from Whatever Happened to Baby Jane is piling up in all the banks all over the world.

Bette Davis will be making London her headquarters and she will go from London to make pictures in any part of the world. She feels it is a better work centre and it makes sense. She is very popular there and today it does not matter where a film stars lives with pictures being made all over the place, especially in London, Rome and Madrid.

* * *

All that fuss about the "reconciliation" of Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer! We stated it in this column three months ago when it happened. Not only that but we added for good measure that Rosie was expecting. And with five children by Jose already, she screamed a loud no.

I'd like to have seen Reginald Gardner's expressive face when he read Joan Crawford's description of her film career. "You played opposite Garbo one day, Gable the next, and Reginald Gardner was your father." I believe Joan meant Reginald Owen.

* * *

The name of Bardot's London picture with Tony Perkins is The Beautiful Bird Brain. Is that a title or a statement?

Hal March with his pretty wife and mother of most of his five children, is signing for another Broadway play. All five children and Mrs. March went along on Hal's recent tour with his New York hit play, Come Blow Your Horn. Said hal, looking at his wife, "I'm crazy about this woman." They have been married eight years and if you are not crazy about your wife by then, you never will be.

TV Laziness Deplored

Quality Spurned

By PETER TEWKSBURY

Noted TV Producer, and guest of vacationing John Crosby

My pet peeves are the lack of responsibility to the audience and the absence of respect for the medium on the part of most producers, directors, writers, and performers—not to mention cameramen, editors, sound men, stagehands, and the janitor's second assistant.

Granted that due to limitations of time and money consistently high quality television is impossible. This fact, however, should not inhibit the effort in that direction any more than the inevitability of death prevents people from trying to stay alive.

With rare exceptions, the so-called "talent" of television falls into two general areas: those who are simply ignorant of the medium but have, via luck and the right golf partners, hung onto their positions; and those who may know what is right and good but who are just too downright Beverly Hills lazy to make things that way. Why should they?

Neither the broadcasters nor the mass audience apparently puts any premium on quality. Why spend a year building a house when people seem to prefer a specious facsimile that was glued together in a month?

So, potentially able people give as little time and talent to their work as they can get away with and drown out the small, still voices of their integrities with the clink clank of coins in the bank or the anxious gulping of double martinis at lunch, or the cosy static of such handy-dandy rationalizations as: "Well, basically, TV is not an art—it's a business" and "I'm just giving people what they want" and "Well, no, I personally don't look at TV, but my kids do and they seem to like it."

The result of this conscienceless is, of course, a gradual lowering of public taste; so that today when something slightly better than mediocre comes along, it is hailed as a great artistic triumph.

Fortunately, there are still a few men of responsibility treading water in the television quagmire. Those few, and there are fewer all the time, still think that the privilege of entering some 50,000,000 living rooms carries with it a certain responsibility that extends beyond selling the show to a sponsor.

Church Battles Over Race

TORONTO (CP)—The place of the church in the race issue provoked sharp words Thursday at the Anglican World Congress.

Southern segregationist Francis T. West of Martinsville, Va., an Episcopalian lay delegate, denounced church involvement in the Negro civil rights struggle after other speakers had called on the congress to purge all traces of racialism from the church.

Lay delegate Charles P. Taft, a city councillor in Cincinnati, Ohio, was one of several unscheduled speakers who pleaded for more active support of the civil rights campaign. He accused the congress of failing to face the issue squarely.

Mr. West's speech, in which he accused the church of becoming "a mere handmaiden of the pseudo-liberals," brought angry hissing from an audience of about 2,000 in the crowded conference hall.

SPEECH 'TRAGIC'

The West speech was described by Miss Janet Lacy, director of the British Inter-Church Aid and Refugee Service, who spoke earlier on aid to poor nations and refugees, as "the most tragic thing I've heard since coming to the congress."

Mr. West, a door and window manufacturer in Martinsville, repeated before the full congress a statement about "fuzziness" in the clerical mind which he had issued to the press Wednesday.

ASKS FOR BOLDNESS

Rev. C. Edward Crowther, formerly of Cape Town, South Africa, and now chaplain at the University of California at Los Angeles, called on the congress to "speak boldly to some southern clergy and laymen who have not stood up to be counted" on the side of civil rights for Negroes.

Union 'Possible' Within 10 Years

TORONTO (CP) — Rt. Rev. Stephen Bayne, formerly of Seattle, Wash., and now executive officer in London of the Anglican communion, said Wednesday night union of Protestant churches in North America is possible within 10 years.

Bishop Bayne said in an interview that the more remote chance of Protestant - Roman Catholic Church union "is moving ahead faster than most of us would have thought possible a short while ago."

He noted that first moves towards union between Anglican and other Protestant churches already have begun in several parts of the world.

He gave this tentative timetable for union:

West Pakistan—union within Protestant churches next year;

East Africa — union in "not more than five years;"

North India—five years or more;

North America—"possible" in 10 years.

Bishop Bayne, as liaison officer for the world's 18 autonomous Anglican churches, is considered one of the most influential members of the church's hierarchy.

Mr. Howes was also an ardent gardener, being one of the original members of the Gladioli Society and a former member of the Victoria Horticultural Society. He had also been active in church work as a member of Metropolitan United.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Barton, of Merritt, B.C. and two grandchildren. Funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in Sands Memorial Chapel with Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James officiating.

Banff Homes Get 'Mountain' Water

Little Man's Turn

U.S. Labor Chiefs Hit Corporations' Tax Cut

UNITY HOUSE, Pa. (UPI)—The AFL-CIO high command Thursday denounced a $2,100,000,000 tax cut for corporations approved by the House ways and means committee. It called the cut "indefensible."

The executive council of the big labor federation said corporations received a $2,000,000,000 tax cut last year. It called instead for tax reduction among middle and low income groups to boost consumer buying power to avert a business downturn.

The council's tax statement wound up a summer meeting at a union resort in the Pocono mountains.

"FOREST"
CEDAR

A new cedar
for Beauty
Long Life
Economy

"FOREST"
Siding?

A new and attractive type of siding that comes from specially selected cedar logs sawn to bring out all the distinctive character of knots, burls and grain.

How Does
"FOREST" compare with other siding?

It has more thickness, greater wood volume to add structural strength to any building. Its snug fitting makes good insulation and its low cost makes it ideal for modest budget home builders or remodellers.

How to finish
"FOREST"

"Forest" has a distinctive horizontal shadow line that will enhance the beauty of your home.
If you wish to preserve the natural rustic effect of "Forest" apply a coat of oil filler first, then varnish or shellac. "Forest" siding also takes paint beautifully if you wish a colored finish.

YOU can easily
apply "FOREST"
cedar siding

Many home owners have applied this modern, beautiful "Forest" siding themselves without the slightest difficulty.

NOT CABBAGES OR KINGS,
But many, many other things.
You may find a perfect gift
For friend or home, to mend a rift;
A picture frame or window pane,
Some things do not have a name,
Be you either girl or boy
You will find fun, perhaps some joy,
So much stuff we need a hall.
When you're free, on us please call,
Antique pans to keep you warm.
It may get cold if there's a storm,
A beautiful mirrored, lovely bar,
Gleason would say Har, De Har, Har,
Lots of brass and silver, too,
May be just the thing for you;
So if you think this is a gas
We will give you a free pass.
First find something you can buy,
See strange things before your eye;
See something you have never seen,
A trip through the Oriental Museum,
This is the place of great renown

CORN!
CORN!
CORN!
It's corn time again at Berryland! Corn must be super-fresh to be good and that is what it is at Berryland. That is also why all the 10,000 Victorians bought their corn at our road stand last year. From now on, and we hope until past Thanksgiving, we will have lots of good corn for all Victoria. We welcome all our old and new friends to come and get the best corn that can be grown in B.C. We have corn for your daily needs, for your parties and for your freezer. In one word Berryland is "The Place" for good corn! Come one—come all!

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♠	2♡
3♣	3♡	Pass	Pass
3 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead: Heart king

Players in a World Championship contest are always open to attack by the critics, but sometimes the critical arrows fall wide of the mark. On this deal from the recent match between Italy and the U.S., the American South made a bid which was criticized as a wild gamble. In fact, the blame for the bad result could equally be attributed to the North player.

An opening bidder with five diamonds and six clubs sometimes chooses one diamond in preference to one club, but in this case the strength of the clubs and the weakness of the diamonds was a decisive factor. North made his natural response of one spade. He could not bid one no trump, which would show a stronger hand in response to one club. The alternative was a bid of one diamond, which would be the choice of players who dislike a response in a weak four-card major.

South's bid of three no trump was admittedly a gamble. He held seven playing tricks and he hoped that partner could produce two tricks including a heart stopper. However, it should have been clear to North that South was gambling, because on the previous round he had bid only three clubs. If South had had serious ambitions to play at three no trump, he would surely have bid two no trump on the previous round. The message of three no trump was therefore this: I am prepared to play at four clubs, but we might attempt three no trump if your hand is particularly suitable for that contract.

North should therefore have gone on to four clubs, reasoning that three no trump could not be sound if South could bid only three clubs over two hearts. Even so, it is doubtful whether South would have continued to game in clubs, which was bid and made by the Italian pair in the other room. Three no trump was down three tricks, and Italy gained 14 IMPs.

English gentlewoman has instructed me to find her a residence in this area. Must be something with character and all that sort of nonsense, rather than a stucco pillbox. Duroid roof acceptable; heavy shakes preferred but a genuine Saanich thatch would almost guarantee a sale! Accommodation should include lots of large rooms with beams, drafty fireplaces and leaky leaded windows in order that she may feel perfectly at home. Indoor plumbing desirable but not essential. Garden should be suitable for exercising three Pekingese. My client is quiet prepared to surrender her immaculately maintained 1933 Rolls Royce as part payment for suitable property. Break-Ins Reported Juveniles are suspected in the breaking into of two Albert Avenue houses while the occupants of the houses were on vacation, ending Wednesday.

Entry was apparently gained to the houses through windows, and drawers were opened, a garden hose cut up, and paint removed from a workshop and sprayed over tools and a garbage can.

But apparently only a transistor radio from one home was stolen and a girls' wristwatch, valued at $12, from the other. Police said footprints indicate the culprits were juvenile.

200 Flop On Floor Of Bank

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (UPI) —Two hundred demonstrators staged a mass lie-down in downtown East St. Louis' largest bank Thursday and dozens of the protesters flopped down again on a sidewalk outside police headquarters when officers tried to usher them to jail.

The turbulent demonstration against alleged discriminatory hiring practices at the First National Bank filled city jail to overflowing and three buses carrying struggling Negroes were detoured to a National Guard armory.

Illinois state police, responding to an emergency appeal from city police, sent a 10-man task force to the bank to help overwhelmed city police load the limp, resisting demonstrators into squad cars, paddy-wagons and hastily requisitioned buses.

Satellites Tell Story

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
(From Los Angeles)

Imagine a hurricane wind smashing an invisible wall?

Space satellites are finding evidence that just such a collison occurs 40,000 miles from earth with dramatic effect, according to Dr. Louis A. Frank and Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa.

The wind is composed of atomic particles from the sun and smacks the walls of the earth's magnetic field at its outer limit.

The collison, Dr. Frank said, could explain why the shimmering northern lights turn on; why the earth has a long tail stretching out on its nightside; why radios sometimes black out; what some radiation hazards are for astronauts and, even how the outer Van Allen radiation belt is formed.

Frank read the joint report yesterday to a symposium summarizing the results of the International Geophysical Year in 1957-58, when space satellite exploration began. It was then that the first Van Allen radiation belt girdling the earth was detected.

Pill Contraception Blasted by Doctor

LONDON (UPI) — A Canadian doctor Thursday attacked new easy methods of contraception as a development likely to "speed the decline of humanity."

Dr. Paul S. Campbell of Edmonton, Alta., formerly was on the staff of the Henry Ford Hospital at Detroit, made the attack to a Moral Rearmament Assembly here.

He coupled his denunciation of contraception with a blast against pill-taking, tobacco and alcohol.

"We are now buying faith in pharmacies and getting virtue from pills," Campbell said. "If fearful, we can take pill A, if sleepless, pill B, if drowsy, pill C and, if we wish to fornicate freely, pill D. God help civilization when the new contraceptive pills get full usage."

He said the answer to the "population explosion" lay not in contraception, which robs society of its energy, but in a "passionately pursued individual and national purpose."

Thief Robs Thief

VANCOUVER (UPI) — A man who was given a suspended sentence last month for stealing $82,000, told police Thursday he was robbed of $6,000 by a man who held a hunting knife to his throat.

Alan David McNair, 33, said he was "jumped" as he entered his apartment early Thursday. McNair, who said he's unemployed, served 23 months in a Washington State jail for taking the $82,000 across the border.

He told police he cashed a cheque Wednesday sent to him by his mother.

Farouk Coin Made in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gold coin valued at $50,000 that was once owned by Egypt's deposed King Farouk is on display here, a few miles from where it was minted 100 years ago.

The $20 British Columbia gold piece minted in New Westminster is part of one of several displays at the annual convention of the Canadian Numismatic Association.

CNE Bets $400,000 On Hometown Boy

TORONTO (UPI)—The Canadian National Exhibition makes its 85th curtain call today with a $400,000 gamble on singer Robert Goulet, a hometown boy who made good on Broadway.

That is the cost of producing the grandstand show and Goulet, as star of the giant spectacle, must draw enough fans to cover it.

Before the musical Camelot two years ago, Goulet was a "popular" CBC performer but hardly a headliner in the Bob Hope, Danny Kaye, Jimmy Durante class.

Today, Goulet is billed as "that Canadian-reared singing sex symbol, the most sensational entertainment find of the year."

Nun Dies In Fiery Protest

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam, plagued by Communist guerrillas and religious unrest, plunged deeper into civil turmoil Thursday as word spread that a Buddhist nun had burned herself to death—the fourth such ritual suicide in two months.

Reliable informants said Nun Dieu Nien set fire to herself in the market place of Ninh Hoa, a coastal village 200 miles northeast of Saigon, the first woman fire-suicide.

THREE OTHERS DIE

Three monks had previously taken their lives in this way in the Buddhist effort to focus world attention on their demands for civil and religious rights they claim President Ngo Dinh Diem's government denies them.

HUE, Viet Nam (AP) — A 71-year-old monk burned himself to death in his ceremonial robes inside Hue's biggest pagoda at 4 a.m. today.

President Diem and his family are Roman Catholics.

FOUR VITAL CENTRES

The fiery suicides have taken place in four important centres of South Viet Nam: Saigon, the ancient capital of Hue, Ninh Hoa and Phanthiet, 100 miles northeast of Saigon.

Communist Viet Cong guerrillas control the hinterland around these cities and they are reported exploiting anti-government sentiments stirred up by the suicides and stringent government action against Buddhist demonstrations.

TAKE NUN'S BODY

Informants at Ninh Hoa said government authorities had taken the nun's body in a move aimed at preventing a mass demonstration at her funeral.

They followed the same tactics with the body of a novice monk who immolated himself early Tuesday near the central Vietnamese religious centre of Hue. It had an opposite effect, however, and troops had to go into action to break up a student demonstration demanding return of the body of 17-year-old Thich Thanh Tuc.

SCORES ARRESTED

Scores of students were arrested during the fracas at Hue and some were reported wounded by the troops who carried fixed bayonets and swung their steel helmets.

TOOK BUS TRIP

Informants said Nun Dieu Nien lived in a pagoda at the port of Nha Trang, that she took a bus to Ninh Hoa and immediately after arrival set fire to herself. There was no explanation for the bus trip.

Freed After Hour's Work

Ice Belt Traps Workman

By MIKE GADSBY

A man got his foot caught in a conveyor belt Thursday and it took two policemen, four firemen, two workmen, a doctor, a hydraulic jack, a chain saw and a cutting torch more than an hour to free it.

Henry Longaz, 35, of 2532 Government, was working in a small ice room at Oakland Industries, 1306 Wharf, when he accidentally stepped on a conveyor belt which runs across the floor of the room conveying crushed ice.

His right foot jammed solidly in the conveyor and police were called to help free it and take him to hospital.

Constables Gordon Bennett and Fred Acreman were unable to free the foot and the fire department was called in.

A steel bracket was cut through with a blow torch by fireman Robert McKean, then a hydraulic jack was used to try to push apart the wooden sides of the conveyor to free the foot.

The sides wouldn't budge, so Mr. McKean sawed them through with a chain saw. Meanwhile a doctor had been called into administer morphine to Mr. Longaz.

Two workmen had been kept busy all the while shovelling crushed ice away from the trapped man while he was being freed.

Firemen John Easton, Carl Coates and Dave Pye were also on hand to help extricate the foot and help get Mr. Longaz out of the confined room so he could be taken to hospital.

He suffered a bad laceration, but there were no broken bones, and he was reported in satisfactory condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital last night.

Tractor Frees Impaled Boy, 11

ABERDEEN, S.D. (CP)—An 11-year-old boy used a tractor Thursday to remove a large hydraulic prong from his chest.

Eugene Hart was driving a tractor pulling another tractor which had a haystacker tine attached in front. When he stopped his tractor suddenly, the second machine lurched forward and the tine speared him, entering through his back and going out through his chest, missing his heart and lungs.

His mother, Mrs. Everett Hart, said the boy put the tractor in gear and drove forward, withdrawing the steel tine.

"He didn't even cry," she said.

Five Charged In Rail Robbery

LONDON (CP)—Three men and two women were charged Thursday night in connection with Britain's $7,000,000 Great Train Robbery.

Two men were charged with other persons at present unknown with being concerned in the theft of £2,600,000 while another man and two women were charged with receiving.

They were arrested just a week after the Glasgow to London post office train was stopped by fake signal and mailbags full of banknotes were stolen.

Police were also reported to have seized more than £100,000 ($300,000) of the stolen money.

TO APPEAR TODAY

All five accused were scheduled to appear in court in Linslade near Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, today.

Those arrested and the charges against them were:

Roger John Cowdery, of East Molesey, and William Boal, of London, accused of being concerned with others in the theft of £2,000,000 the property of the Postmaster General;

Mrs. Rene Boal, wife of William Boal, charged with receiving £325 in five-pound notes and five one-pound notes, knowing them to have been stolen;

Mary Florence Pilgrim, 49, of East Molesey, and Alfred Pilgrim, 52, of the same address, charged with receiving £850 in five-pound notes knowing them to have been stolen.

THREE CARS

Currency estimated at £150,000 was recovered from three cars seized in Bournemouth.

A seaside resort of about 155,000 population, Bournemouth became the centre of the search as Scotland Yard aces flew in to grill the two principal suspects in their stepped-up hunt

RUSSIA TODAY

Foreigner Keeps Suspecting Soviet Soft Sell

By ALAN HARVEY
Last of a Series

MOSCOW (CP)—A traveller plunges behind the Iron Curtain wondering why the Soviets are like that and comes back rhapsodizing about the Russian soul.

That's what has happened in a month-long visit starting with Moscow's broad boulevards and ending with the leafy parks of Kiev, final memory of many Ukrainians emigrating to Canada.

Between times, strengthening the tourist's impression of basic human worth, came Samarkand, Bukhara and tawny Tashkent. Here in scorching central Asia emerges a new and bewildering segment of the Soviet empire; here European techniques roll back Uzbek mud huts and more than 30 nationalities, strayed off the set of some Charlie Chan movie, mingle in a racial cocktail whose consequences are incalculable.

And finally lighthearted Leningrad with its block-long buildings and Western affinities, not really seeming a Soviet city at all, viewing the cold war with aplomb.

In Torment

Soon the Western mind tosses in torment.

On one side are whispers about strict security, radio beams that can pick up conversations in the most private setting, mysterious wrong numbers, artificial noise machines designed to thwart electronic eavesdropping.

And again there are the people so alive, under that sluggish Slav exterior, that they will explode in a pandemonium of emotion as an elderly ballerina makes her final appearance, so tender - hearted they will burst into tears at the sight of an African baby cradled in a white woman's arms.

Are Western suspicions

Ore Ship Owners File Suit

MONTREAL (UPI) — Owners of the ore carrier Tritonica which sank in the St. Lawrence near Quebec City July 20 with the loss of 33 lives Thursday filed a $4,000,000 suit against the owners of the freighter Roonagh Head.

The two vessels collided in the pre-dawn hours. There were no casualties aboard the Roonagh Head, owned by the Ulster Steamships Co.

Roonagh Head Capt. William Haddock testified Thursday that weather conditions had been relatively clear before the collision, that the Tritonica had been picked up on the ship's radar and he had changed the Roonagh's course "slightly to starboard" before the impact.

Haddock testified the Tritonica suddenly appeared across the bow of the freighter.

19 Kidnapped

CASTRO RAIDS BRITISH ISLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Castro armed forces kidnapped 19 persons—presumably Cuban refugees—from a British island Tuesday while U.S. warplanes watched, the state department reported Thursday.

Press Officer Richard I. Phillips said that, at British request, 10 survivors who escaped the raid by two Cuban warships and a helicopter have been brought to Key West by the U.S. Coast Guard vessel Ariadne.

He said U.S. fighter aircraft and coast guard patrol planes saw the raid but could not intervene under international law because the action was on British territory. The scene was Anguilla Key, described as a small, uninhabited island in the Bahama chain about 40 or 50 miles from Cuba.

PROTEST TO CUBA

In London, the British foreign office said a frigate has been dispatched to investigate the incident and a protest to Cuba would be in order if it proves correct that Cuban forces went on the British island.

Phillips said this is what happened:

Two Cuban naval vessels and a Cuban helicopter removed 19 persons from Anguilla key and from two small boats nearby between 4 and 6 p.m. Aug. 13. The ships and the helicopter then headed off to the west, toward Cuba.

DID NOT RADIO

The U.S. planes watched the action but did not radio the British at the time. Subsequently, the U.S. information on the incident was given to British authorities in Nassau, the capital of the Bahamas, and in Washington.

The Ariadne picked up 10 Cubans Wednesday at the island. They said they were members of the families of persons captured by the Cuban forces. The 10, who included a woman and a child, said they escaped seizure by hiding.

'Profumo' Vote Ends

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England (Reuters) — Party officials predicted a poll of more than 60 per cent when voting stations closed Thursday night in the "Profumo" byelection here.

Sunny weather brought out a steady flow of voters all day in this Riverside town—swelled with tourists visiting Shakespeare's birthplace.

Backfire

Tarred Woman Faker

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A woman, tarred and feathered and left in a burning house, Thursday told sheriff's deputies the incident was a hoax that backfired—literally.

Mrs. Katherine Harwell, in general hospital for treatment of severe burns on her torso, face and hands, implicated Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, property owners in the suburban city of Walnut.

Deputies picked up the Lewis couple and questioned them. But there was no clear explanation for the reason behind the hoax—other than that it was planned to "stir up a racial incident." Mrs. Harwell said she permitted the Lewis couple to apply tar and feathers to her body.

Firemen rescued Mrs. Harwell from the burning house in Walnut Tuesday night.

She told investigators three white men had burst into the house, applied tar and feathers, bound her and set the place ablaze.

The convention will be at Murray Bay, 75 miles northeast of Quebec, Aug. 27-29.

Claims Commission to Settle All Grievances

By JOHN BIRD

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new era of justice, freedom of choice and human dignity was pledged Thursday night by Immigration Minister Favreau for Canada's 210,000 Indians.

He gave the undertaking in his capacity as superintendent-general of Indian affairs in a speech to the third annual conference of the National Indian Council of Canada. He elaborated on the government's decision to establish an Indian claims commission.

The commission, he said, will assess and settle all Indian claims and grievances against the federal government in a just and equitable manner.

Mr. Favreau, a French-Canadian member of the cabinet, gave this pledge to Indians:

"As a member of a proud minority group which, like yours, refused to die and never gave up its struggle, you will perhaps accept this assurance of my firm determination to ensure that justice, freedom of choice and human dignity are the enshrined principles of the administration of Indian affairs. In striving for this goal I trust that I shall have your confidence and the benefit of your representations and recommendations.

"I should expect that the commission will not be bound by strict legal rules of evidence, although it should have the powers of a court for the purpose of summoning witnesses and the production and inspection of documents.

"It is proposed that the commission be authorized to hear all claims referred to it by the government, as well as such

A German Noblewoman

An Old Family Tradition

She Still Likes Bobbin Lace

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — When Frau Charlotte Schnorr von Carolsfeld arrived in western Canada to live with her married daughter, Mrs. Waltraut Apted at Glen Lake near Victoria, she brought with her an old bobbin lace pillow and a wealth of family tradition enhanced by continental history.

She was born in Alsace-Lorraine where her father, an artillery general, commanded German troops at Metz before the First World War.

However, her family still had deep roots in the Erzgebirge of middle Germany. Most of her life—she is now in her 79th year—has been closely associated with old continental nobility.

The story of her family reaches as far back as the era of German Emperor Sigismund in the 15th century who commended one of her ancestors. One of her husband's forebears accidentally discovered the Kaolin clay on his large land holdings in Saxony.

Through it, the re-invented Boettger Porcelain could be given the fine white texture which the original in China had several thousand years before.

Another famous grandsire, Julius Schnorr von Carolsfeld, made a name for himself as a painter.

Frau von Carolsfeld relates her life as it protrudes into an era which has discarded the old conception of aristocracy.

Somehow she has conformed to the different life on this continent since her arrival eight years ago. Recently she became active in assisting the Valley Lace Club at Duncan by teaching the old cottage craft which was imported from Italy to Germany.

Visiting in Duncan with distant relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Horst Nowrath on Lakeview drive, she attends bobbin club meetings from her Glen Lake home, and more than likely she is the most experienced bobbin lace maker in western Canada.

From the age of nine, when her father suggested she should learn the craft, she has liked to make the intricate lace.

Depending on the size of the lace, from just a few to more than 72 bobbins are used to weave the artistic pattern of linen thread into handkerchieves, table cloth, dress trimmings, or altar lace.

Although factory-made lace is deceivingly similar, handmade lace is still recognized by experts for its original designs and better quality.

Weed-Killer

Spray Probe Due

COURTENAY (CP)—The district health officer of this area will investigate the spraying of weed killer near a water supply intake.

The chemical was sprayed by B.C. Hydro and Power Authority crews near an intake at Bulkley Bay.

The incident occurred last week. Gregory Sawchu, 15, tasted the water Saturday and found it distasteful and told his parents. Investigation showed there had been spraying near the intake.

TANK TRUCKS

Ivor Tucker, transmission superintendent for Hydro, said the chemical was sprayed from tank trucks to kill alder and maple along a power line and some must have been sprayed near the intake.

Dr. G. A. Gibson, district health officer, said he supposed any substance of this sort is dangerous but he would make no statement pending investigation.

All 92 members of National Youth Orchestra swarmed onto this 75-foot harbor craft at HMCS Naden yesterday afternoon for hour-long cruise of Esquimalt Harbor.

Courtenay Mayor Won't Sign

Work-for-Welfare Policy in Operation

Mayor William Moore of Courtenay put his work-for-welfare policy in effect yesterday—saying he will not sign cheques for people whom he thinks are trying to live off welfare instead of working for a living.

"I'm after the leeches. There are some people around here who haven't found employment for five or six years," Mayor Moore said. "You can't tell me they tried to find jobs."

Meanwhile, Mayor Loran Jordon of Port Alberni and Mayor Fred Bishop of Alberni said they will not assign payments to applicants who have had liquor offences or similar convictions.

OTHER MAYORS

These and a number of other mayors in B.C. apparently believe it is time for a change in the social welfare system.

However, Mayor Garvin Dezell of Prince George Thursday termed "plumb ridiculous" the position of officials who are saying they will refuse to sign certain cheques.

"Under the British North America Act," said Mayor Dezell, "you simply can't refuse sustenance to indigents."

Port Alberni Mayor Loran Jordon earlier had said, "Much as I admire what he (Mayor Moore of Courtenay) is trying to do, I don't think he'll get very far."

"Basically they don't know what they are talking about," said Mayor Dezell. "You just can't refuse to sign welfare cheques."

SYSTEM ABUSED

However, he agreed the present system is being abused. But he didn't think anyone should be cut off from relief until he refuses a job offered by the National Employment Service.

Mayor Jordon Thursday said the matter will go before the Union of B.C. Municipalities in Dawson Creek next month.

Welfare costs are paid by all three levels of government, about 10 per cent by the municipality and 45 per cent by each of the senior governments—but all the money spent comes from the taxpayers.

Body Found

UCLUELET—The body of 68-year-old Fred Louis of Ucluelet reserve was found floating in Ucluelet Harbor yesterday morning. The elderly man had been missing since July 27 when he left Ucluelet for his home in a small skiff that was found overturned next day.

Young Musicians

Kelp-Laden

They'll Recall Sea

There'll be some evil-smelling pockets, handbags and suitcases all over Canada in a few days as members of the National Youth Orchestra disband and return to their homes.

The 92 members of the orchestra spent almost three hours at HMCS Naden yesterday, including an hour's trip around Esquimalt harbor in a 75-foot harbor craft.

Many of them saw kelp for the first time floating in the harbor so the ship's master, David Hill, stopped and fished out a 15-foot piece of the weed.

And many of the young players took souvenirs of the rope-like weed, carefully putting them in pockets and handbags.

After touring the shore establishment and the fleet maintenance vessel HMCS Cape Breton, the group visited Government House, where they were welcomed by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Conductor Walter Susskind and Mrs. Susskind were not able to attend—Mr. Susskind left Victoria early yesterday morning for Aspen, Colorado, and Mrs. Susskind is travelling to California, where her husband will join her later.

Surprise ceremony at Government House yesterday was presentation by girls in National Youth Orchestra to their counsellor, Mrs. Marta Armin of Windsor, Ont., here expressing thanks. "Den mother" for orchestra, Mrs. Armin has three children playing, including Otto Armin, concertmaster. Her husband, Jay, is orchestra administrator.—(Ted Shackleford)

Thief-Proof Safe Defies Its Owner

NANAIMO — Thieves would be well advised to stay away from Bill Ostles' service station on Victoria Crescent because Thursday the owner couldn't even crack his own safe.

Ostles needed some cash from his combination safe. However, something clicked inside and the safe would not open.

He had to send for a lock and by mid-afternoon the specialist also had given up. Finally he sent for a cutting torch to burn through the 1½ inches of steel.

Acquittal In Entry Charge

Errol Tucker, formerly of 722 Lily, was acquitted in county court yesterday on a charge of being unlawfully in a dwelling house with intent to commit an indictable offence.

He was charged in connection with an incident in the home of David Eric Sands, 3101 Yew Street, early June 14.

Judge S. J. Remnant ruled there was reasonable doubt in the accused's intention to commit an indictable offence.

Tucker was defended by Alan Bigelow. Crown counsel was R. Dutton Walker.

Mother Held In Death Of Daughter

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Port Hardy woman is awaiting trial here for non-capital murder in the death of her five-year-old daughter June 3.

Ethel Mountain, 25, of the Fort Rupert Indian Reserve at Port Hardy, was charged Monday and flown here Tuesday. She was remanded without plea.

Police said the child, one of seven, was stabbed twice with a kitchen knife and died a day later in hospital at Alert Bay.

Date for the trial has not been set.

Luxton Fall Fair Offers $600 More

Organizers of the Luxton Fall Fair are offering about $600 more in cash prizes this year and are expecting to have a bigger fair than ever before.

The two-day country fair will be held at the Luxton fair grounds on Aug. 23 and 24. There will be a larger midway than last year and more room for the various show rings.

Stan Hiscock, president of the fair's board of management, said yesterday "the increased prize money is concentrated on the cattle section to encourage purebred breeders to show their stock."

The total prize list could amount to $2,500 this year, not counting money spent on such necessities as ribbons, trophies, miniature trophies and engraving, he said.

The Luxton Fair Queen, to be named on Aug. 23, will reign over the fair and will represent the Luxton area in various festivities held between then and next year's fair.

Three 4-H girls from whom the queen and two princesses are to be selected are Margaret Williams and Peggy and Donna Chidlow. They were chosen for their winning essays on what 4-H club activities mean to the community.

$400,000 Needed And 'No Nonsense'

This year's United Appeal drive for $400,000—intended to meet operating expenses of 24 agencies—will be a "no-nonsense" campaign, John Wallace announced yesterday.

"We did a great deal of soul-searching before we set the goal of United Appeal at $400,000," Mr. Wallace, campaign manager, told a press conference in Spencerhouse.

He outlined two basic points:

● The 24 agencies must have the money;

● Victoria is "badly out of line" with other cities in Canada—Victorians last year gave $2.43 per capita, other cities more than $3 a head.

"This is the major appeal of the city," said United Appeal chairman Dr. Peter Banks. "It means we're asking people to put their hands in their pockets for 24 agencies."

How will the campaign operate?

"Last year we didn't meet our full goal," said Mr. Wallace, adding that $350,446 had been raised in 1962.

"We are better organized, and we'll have to get out and push for $400,000," he said.

It was pointed out the $400,000 goal represents the "absolute minimum" in operating capital for the 24 agencies.

Dr. Banks said United Appeal officials here are watching amalgamation talks between United Appeal and Red Cross in Vancouver.

"A truly United Appeal is best and most efficient," he added. "Over the last eight years the agencies came into United Appeal one by one."

Reasons for the increase to $400,000 goal:

● The greater Victoria Association for the Retarded has been admitted as the 24th agency—four per cent of the total increase of 14 per cent of the $400,000 goal.

● Greater Victoria is a rapidly growing community—five per cent of the increase.

● Past campaign failures mean agencies had to work on insufficient funds, plus rising costs—five per cent.

What does $400,000 mean to every citizen?

It means a contribution of $2.77 per capita.

United Appeal campaign will start Sept. 26.

Youbou Member RCAF Team

'Flier' at Age Five Hawk Back to Nest

By DON GAIN

A Youbou boy who loved planes so much he chomped his sandwiches into the shape of aircraft 26 years ago will visit Victoria today—flying as a member of the RCAF's famous Golden Hawks.

Bill Grip, now 31, will fly second solo position with the aerobatic boys when the Sabre jets come up like thunder over Beacon Hill and 'cross the bay.

"I can remember him when he was about five years old," his mother said last night, "When he ate sandwiches he made them look like airplanes. Then he'd play with them."

Bill was born in Port Alberni and moved to Youbou with his parents, Lars and Hildur Grip, who still live there. His father is a boom man with B.C. Forest Products.

Bill attended school in Camp 6, Youbou, and then went as far as Grade 13 at Lake Cowichan High School. He joined the RCAF as soon as he graduated in 1951.

He earned his wings and his commission the next year and served with Canada's NATO Air Division flying F-86 Sabres with 427 (Fighter) Squadron, 3 Fighter Wing, Zweibrucken, Germany from 1953 to 1957.

* * *

While overseas he met and married Florence McLeod of Kamloops, who was also serving with the RCAF, and took his bride to Sweden to meet his relatives.

Before returning to Canada the Grips had two children, have had two more since coming back.

Back in Canada, Bill spent four years in Vancouver on recruiting, went to Moose Jaw, Sask., as a flying instructor in 1961.

Now a flight-lieutenant, he joined the Golden Hawks late last year. The Grips live in Trenton, Ont.

Bill has a sister in Victoria, Mrs. Louise Bailey, 646 Admirals, and one in Youbou, Mrs. Lucille Whittingham.

Water Skiers Don't Wait For Ferry

COURTENAY — Residents here and in Powell River have been pressing for a ferry for a long time and are getting impatient.

But Leo Beaulieu and Lloyd White couldn't wait for a ferry or any kind of boat, so they water-skied the 18 miles across Georgia Strait in one hour and five minutes.

Piloting the boats were Bob Salter and Bill Quinn, with the skiers' wives in the boats as second "men."

Burned Boy's Family Offered Aid, Sympathy

More financial help was offered yesterday for the Campbell River family whose nine-year-old boy was severely burned in a gasoline explosion.

Keith Barker of Campbell River and playmate Jimmy Morgan, 8, were burned March 2 when gasoline was thrown onto a fire. Keith is in St. Joseph's Hospital here, undergoing extensive skin grafts.

The B.C. Federation of Labor has set up a fund to help the family, which has been having a hard time meeting expenses since the accident.

Pat O'Neal, of Vancouver, federation secretary-treasurer, said a letter is being sent to affiliated unions asking for donations. The federation started the fund off yesterday with a $50 donation.

Meanwhile, Mrs. J. S. Black, 2637 Mt. Stephen Ave., suggested that persons wishing to help the family could "mail anything from a dime to a dollar" to Mr. William Harold Barker, Campbell River.

Douglas Hotel manager Ken King offered to put the family up at the hotel this weekend when they come down to visit Keith in hospital.

Also, the Noon Optimist Club of Victoria yesterday offered to give the family a key to the caretaker's suite in the Optimist home (the old Seamen's Institute) on Superior Street.

"We could use some paint and furniture, but we are willing to fix up the suite and make it available for the Barker family to use as often as they like," said Const. Thomas Smith, who is taking care of the Optimist's arrangements for the family.

Anyone wishing to donate paint or furniture for the suite was asked to contact Mr. Smith at his home 1328 Clover, telephone EV 4-7080.

Nun Dies In Fiery Protest

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam, plagued by Communist guerrillas and religious unrest, plunged deeper into civil turmoil Thursday as word spread that a Buddhist nun had burned herself to death—the fourth such ritual suicide in two months.

Reliable informants said Nun Dieu Nien set fire to herself in the market place of Ninh Hoa, a coastal village 200 miles northeast of Saigon, the first woman fire-suicide.

THREE OTHERS DIE

Three monks had previously taken their lives in this way in the Buddhist effort to focus world attention on their demands for civil and religious rights they claim President Ngo Dinh Diem's government denies them.

HUE, Viet Nam (AP) — A 71-year-old monk burned himself to death in his ceremonial robes inside Hue's biggest pagoda at 4 a.m. today.

President Diem and his family are Roman Catholics.

FOUR VITAL CENTRES

The fiery suicides have taken place in four important centres of South Viet Nam: Saigon, the ancient capital of Hue, Ninh Hoa and Phanthiet, 100 miles northeast of Saigon.

Communist Viet Cong guerrillas control the hinterland around these cities and they are reported exploiting anti-government sentiments stirred up by the suicides and stringent government action against Buddhist demonstrations.

TAKE NUN'S BODY

Informants at Ninh Hoa said government authorities had taken the nun's body in a move aimed at preventing a mass demonstration at her funeral.

They followed the same tactics with the body of a novice monk who immolated himself early Tuesday near the central Vietnamese religious centre of Hue. It had an opposite effect, however, and troops had to go into action to break up a student demonstration demanding return of the body of 17-year-old Thich Thanh Tue.

SCORES ARRESTED

Scores of students were arrested during the fracas at Hue and some were reported wounded by the troops who carried fixed bayonets and swung their steel helmets.

TOOK BUS TRIP

Informants said Nun Dieu Nien lived in a pagoda at the port of Nha Trang, that she took a bus to Ninh Hoa and immediately after arrival set fire to herself. There was no explanation for the bus trip.

Freed After Hour's Work

Ice Belt Traps Workman

By MIKE GADSBY

A man got his foot caught in a conveyor belt Thursday and it took two policemen, four firemen, two workmen, a doctor, a hydraulic jack, a chain saw and a cutting torch more than an hour to free him.

Henry Longaz, 35, of 2532 Government, was working in a small ice room at Oakland Industries, 1306 Wharf, when he accidentally stepped on a conveyor belt which runs across the floor of the room conveying crushed ice.

His right foot jammed solidly in the conveyor and police were called to help free it and take him to hospital.

Constables Gordon Bennett and Fred Acreman were unable to free the foot and the fire department was called in.

A steel bracket was cut through with a blow torch by fireman Robert McKean, then a hydraulic jack was used to try to push apart the wooden sides of the conveyor to free the foot.

The sides wouldn't budge, so Mr. McKean sawed them through with a chain saw. Meanwhile a doctor had been called in to administer morphine to Mr. Longaz.

Two workmen had been kept busy all the while shovelling crushed ice away from the trapped man while he was being freed.

Firemen John Easton, Carl Coates and Dave Pye were also on hand to help extricate the foot and help get Mr. Longaz out of the confined room so he could be taken to hospital.

He suffered a bad laceration, but there were no broken bones, and he was reported in satisfactory condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital last night.

Tractor Frees Impaled Boy, 11

ABERDEEN, S.D. (CP)—An 11-year-old boy used a tractor Thursday to remove a large hydraulic prong from his chest.

Eugene Hart was driving a tractor pulling another tractor which had a haystacker tine attached in front. When he stopped his tractor suddenly, the second machine lurched forward and the tine speared him, entering through his back and going out through his chest, missing his heart and lungs.

* * *

His mother, Mrs. Everett Hart, said the boy put the tractor in gear and drove forward, withdrawing the steel tine.

"He didn't even cry," she said.

Eugene is recovering in hospital.

Five Charged In Rail Robbery

LONDON (CP)—Three men and two women were charged Thursday night in connection with Britain's $7,000,000 Great Train Robbery.

Two men were charged with other persons at present unknown with being concerned in the theft of £2,600,000 while another man and two women were charged with receiving.

They were arrested just a week after the Glasgow to London post office train was stopped by fake signal and mailbags full of banknotes were stolen.

Police were also reported to have seized more than £100,000 ($300,000) of the stolen money.

TO APPEAR TODAY

All five accused were scheduled to appear in court in Linslade near Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, today.

Those arrested and the charges against them were:

Roger John Cowdery, of East Molesey, and William Boal, of London, accused of being concerned with others in the theft of £2,000,000 the property of the Postmaster General;

Mrs. Rene Boal, wife of William Boal, charged with receiving £325 in five-pound notes and five one-pound notes, knowing them to have been stolen;

Mary Florence Pilgrim, 49, of East Molesey, and Alfred Pilgrim, 32, of the same address, charged with receiving £850 in five-pound notes knowing them to have been stolen.

THREE CARS

Currency estimated at £150,000 was recovered from three cars seized in Bournemouth.

A seaside resort of about 155,000 population, Bournemouth became the centre of the search as Scotland Yard aces flew in to grill the two principal suspects in their stepped-up hunt

RUSSIA TODAY

Foreigner Keeps Suspecting Soviet Soft Sell

By ALAN HARVEY
Last of a Series

MOSCOW (CP)—A traveller plunges behind the Iron Curtain wondering why the Soviets are like that and comes back rhapsodizing about the Russian soul.

That's what has happened in a month-long visit starting with Moscow's broad boulevards and ending with the leafy parks of Kiev, final memory of many Ukrainians emigrating to Canada.

Between times, strengthening the tourist's impression of basic human worth, came Samarkand, Bukhara and tawny Tashkent. Here in scorching central Asia emerges a new and bewildering segment of the Soviet empire; here European techniques roll back Uzbek mud huts and more than 30 nationalities, strayed off the set of some Charlie Chan movie, mingle in a racial cocktail whose consequences are incalculable.

And finally lighthearted Leningrad with its block-long buildings and Western affinities, not really seeming a Soviet city at all, viewing the cold war with aplomb.

In Torment

Soon the Western mind tosses in torment.

On one side are whispers about strict security, radio beams that can pick up conversations in the most private setting, mysterious wrong numbers, artificial noise machines designed to thwart electronic eavesdropping.

And again there are the people so alive, under that sluggish Slav exterior, that they will explode in a pandemonium of emotion as an elderly ballerina makes her final appearance, so tender-hearted they will burst into tears at the sight of an African baby cradled in a white woman's arms.

Are Western suspicions

CASTRO KIDNAPS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Castro armed forces kidnapped 19 persons—presumably Cuban refugees—from a British island Tuesday while U.S. warplanes watched, the state department reported Thursday.

Press Officer Richard I. Phillips said that, at British request, 10 survivors who escaped the raid by two Cuban warships and a helicopter have been brought to Key West by the U.S. Coast Guard vessel Ariadne.

He said U.S. fighter aircraft and coast guard patrol planes saw the raid but could not intervene under international law because the action was on British territory. The scene was Anguilla Key, described as a small, uninhabited island in the Bahama chain about 40 or 50 miles from Cuba.

PROTEST TO CUBA

In London, the British foreign office said a frigate has been dispatched to investigate the incident and a protest to Cuba would be in order if it proves correct that Cuban forces went on the British island.

Phillips said this is what happened:

Two Cuban naval vessels and a Cuban helicopter removed 19 persons from Anguilla key and from two small boats nearby between 4 and 6 p.m. Aug. 13. The ships and the helicopter then headed off to the west, toward Cuba.

DID NOT RADIO

The U.S. planes watched the action but did not radio the British at the time. Subsequently, the U.S. information on the incident was given to British authorities in Nassau, the capital of the Bahamas, and in Washington.

The Ariadne picked up 10 Cubans Wednesday at the island. They said they were members of the families of persons captured by the Cuban forces. The 10, who included a woman and a child, said they escaped seizure by hiding.

'Profumo' Vote Ends

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England (Reuters) — Party officials predicted a poll of more than 60 per cent when voting stations closed Thursday night in the "Profumo" byelection here.

Sunny weather brought out a steady flow of voters all day in this riverside town—swelled with tourists visiting Shakespeare's birthplace.

Backfire

Tarred Woman Faker

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A woman, tarred and feathered and left in a burning house, Thursday told sheriff's deputies the incident was a hoax that backfired—literally.

Mrs. Katherine Harwell, in general hospital for treatment of severe burns on her torso, face and hands, implicated Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, property owners in the suburban city of Walnut.

Deputies picked up the Lewis couple and questioned them. But there was no clear explanation for the reason behind the hoax—other than that it was planned to "stir up a racial incident." Mrs. Harwell said she permitted the Lewis couple to apply tar and feathers to her body.

Firemen rescued Mrs. Harwell from the burning house in Walnut Tuesday night.

She told investigators three white men had burst into the house, applied tar and feathers, bound her and set the place ablaze.

Ore Ship Owners File Suit

MONTREAL (UPI) — Owners of the ore carrier Tritonica which sank in the St. Lawrence near Quebec City July 20 with the loss of 33 lives Thursday filed a $4,000,000 suit against the owners of the freighter Roonagh Head.

The two vessels collided in the pre-dawn hours. There were no casualties aboard the Roonagh Head, owned by the Ulster Steamships Co.

Roonagh Head Capt. William Haddock testified Thursday that weather conditions had been relatively clear before the collision, that the Tritonica had been picked up on the ship's radar and he had changed the Roonagh's course "slightly to starboard" before the impact.

Haddock testified the Tritonica suddenly appeared across the bow of the freighter.

"I need a drink."—Il faut que je prenne une verre.

"I feel lousy. Do you?"—Je me sens mal. Et vous?

"Where is the bathroom?"—Ou se trouve la chambre de toilette?

And as a reply to those who say "see you next year in Toronto" there is:

The convention will be at Murray Bay, 75 miles northeast of Quebec, Aug. 27-29.

Claims Commission to Settle All Grievances

By JOHN BIRD

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new era of justice, freedom of choice and human dignity was pledged Thursday night by Immigration Minister Favreau for Canada's 210,000 Indians.

He gave the undertaking in his capacity as superintendent-general of Indian affairs in a speech to the third annual conference of the National Indian Council of Canada. He elaborated on the government's decision to establish an Indian claims commission.
